JOHN W. DAVIS is much disturbed by "social unrest," and fears that Coolidge's election might cause a "social revolt." What effect it would have to elect the leading lawyer of J. P. Morgan & Co., the telephone monopoly and the biggest oil company, Mr. Davis does not say. These are the words of the Democratic candidate:

"In all seriousness and earnestness, I submit to you that there is in this country a great unrest."

SO THERE IS, and so much the better. Looking at the baby in the crib, the doctor is worried if the baby is too quiet. That's dangerous.

So with a nation. Where there is no unrest, no discontent, no struggle for better conditions, no strongly expressed dissatisfaction, there is a lack of the right energy and national feeling.

IT IS ALL right to die quietly, but men and nations ought not to live too quietly.

If a farmer works all his life, with nothing to show for it, he ought to complain and he ought to show "unrest." Unrest, discontent, blaming and demanding are the foundations of everything worth while. There was unrest in this country in 1776. There was unrest when the tea went overboard in Boston harbor. Discontent is the mainspring of progress. There isn't enough of it.

MANY YEARS ago this writer suggested that the flying problem would be solved by transmission of electric power without wires. Power stations at Niagara Falls and other points would supply the power, and machines flying above would "pick it up."

Now Edison, who exhibited his first incandescent electric light just forty-five years ago, predicts the age of "power transmission by wireless."

When that comes, you may see gigantic flying machines going around the world year after year, six miles up, where no strong winds blow, rarely landing, carrying small planes to drop passengers at New York, San Francisco, Honolulu, Manila, and so on, all the way around.

HOW FAST we travel along the road of science!

Forty-five years ago Edison's first incandescent lamp shed its feeble light. The other night fliers, practicing in the dark on Long Island, sailed down to the ground, following the shining ray of a searchlight with more than a million candle power, slanting at the right angle and safely guiding them to the ground.

SOON LIGHT will be almost as cheap as darkness. Every street and highway in the country will be lighted as thoroughly as the main traffic of great cities.

Crime will vanish under light, as disease germs wilt under sunlight.

And there will be no "lost hours." Machines will be grinding out their wealth twenty-four hours a day, with men in three shifts of eight hours (or better, four shifts of six hours), superintending the production.

MRS. WILLOW, a widow aged 29, appeared before a jury accused of ordering her young admirer, Shadel, aged 18, to kill her husband.

The jury finds her guilty of murder in the second degree. But Mrs. Willow could not possibly be guilty of murder in the second degree. If she planned the murder, and ordered Shadel to carry it out, that was PREMEDITATED murder, and therefore murder in the first degree. If she didn't plan the murder, she was not guilty at all. Perhaps the jury acted on the theory that something ought to be done about the fact that the lady's morals left something to

Crowd Barred at Klan Riot Trial

EVIDENCE IS HEARD BY JUDGE IN LOBBY

Two Men Held for Saturday's Disturbance Discharged for Lack of Prosecution

Worcester, Oct. 20.—As a precaution against a possible outbreak in the courtroom, Judge Utley held a private session of Worcester District Court today for the arraignment of two alleged Klansmen charged with carrying weapons unlawfully during the anti-Klan riots Saturday night.

Crowds gathered early for the arraignment and apparently they were divided in their sympathies. They were stopped at the doors. Only reporters were admitted.

Richard Walliten and Roy Salter of South Byfield, the alleged Klansmen, were on hand with lawyers, but were not needed, when it developed that there was nobody to prosecute. Judge Utley dismissed the defendants.

Until today it had been supposed the two men would be formally charged with being in possession of a revolver and holster when they were taken into custody.

BOY IS HELD

Miles Burke, a sixteen-year-old boy, and prominently anti-Klan, will be arraigned in juvenile court tomorrow on the charge of throwing stones.

Chief of Police Hill said after the court session that the investigation still was under way and that other arrests were impending.

Only the uncertainty of the authorities as to the responsibility for the initial outbreak on Harrington corner in the heart of the business section is delaying other arrests.

Some of the officers whose names have been obtained cannot be reached through the rioting charge, it is admitted, but will be accused of violating traffic regulations.

The Klonvocation was the largest in the history of the Klan in New England. Fully 15,000 persons were in conference all day, without disorder.

After the meeting, as the automobiles bearing the klansmen and neophytes sped away a crowd of young men gathered at Harrington corner and began to boo. Some of the klansmen took exceptions, slowed down and answered in kind.

They were pelted with miscellaneous articles, including eggs of doubtful age and stones and bricks of unquestioned solidity. Before it was over the corner looked like a sector of the Western battlefront during a busy moment in 1917.

Mrs. Ethel Gardner, forty, of Providence, was cut over the left eye. Mrs. Charles Sickles of Worcester was struck on the foot by a stone. Mr. and Mrs. Harlow Bernardi of Shrewsbury were cut about the head and hands when their car was stoned as they were leaving the fair grounds.

JAYWALKERS WILL BE ARRESTED IN NEW YORK

New York, Oct. 20.—Jaywalkers will be subject to arrest and fine under regulations that Police Commissioner Enright said today he hoped to make effective within six weeks. Foot traffic will be guided by the laws for motor vehicles, keeping to the right and moving at the corner policeman's order. The commissioner declared most accidents occur when business is on men's minds preoccupied, attempt to weave in and around trucks and taxicabs on busy streets in order to make a crossing instead of sticking to the crosswalks.

MISS MARY BOWDITCH

NEWTON GIRL WON IN BLEAK LABRADOR

Even on the bleak coast of Labrador romance springs eternal. Miss Mary Bowditch of Newtonville proved again today, when she announced her engagement to Dr. Benjamin Dysart of New York.

At present he is a member of the staff of Bellevue Hospital and she is teaching in a girls' school in Connecticut.

But when their love affair began he was in charge of Dr. Grenfell's famous hospital ship and she was aboard it a secretarial capacity.

The companionship enforced on passengers aboard the same ship has been an aid to Cupid in many a romance, and the picturesque and appealing nature of their work in the bleak North helped, too. They were pledged to each other before she left the ship, Miss Bowditch admitted, but she delayed the announcement until they had agreed on the wedding day.

Miss Bowditch studied for three years at the College of Liberal Arts of Boston University.

Adventure as well as romance has come her way. It may seem a far cry from Labrador to Texas, but she just recently returned from Tilnson in the Lone Star State after teaching in a school for negro children for a year.

Teaching little colored children in that interesting State comes under the head of hazardous occupation, according to the Newtonville girl. The Ku Klux Klan objected to her presence, maintaining that a certain proficiency in picking cotton or other labor was all the knowledge a negro stood in need of.

"Although I was threatened repeatedly and was pointed at derisively as I walked along the

Cave Man a Poor Dub; Wife Did His Thinking

New York, Oct. 20.—"The cave man was a poor dumb beast who let his mate—his wife—do his thinking for him."

This was the conviction expressed today by Mrs. George C. McCurdy, anthropologist and explorer, as she and her husband, Professor of prehistoric research at Peabody Museum, Yale University, returned on the steamship Orbita.

"From my investigations in fourteen European museums and in many excavations I doubt very much that the cave man was the boss, after all," Mrs. McCurdy declared.

"Women evidently displayed the earliest signs of intelligence."

We all like to read of pirates, smugglers, boats stealing by in the night and the sound of muffled oars in a secret cove. We still go back to books to find such things, yet, it is happening right in our own front yard and we think nothing of it. Anyone these days who lives near the open waters may SEE swift boats stealing by in the night like phantoms—without making a sound. Each conspirator knows his signals and SOMETIMES everything goes well. At others—shots are heard, a boat riddled with bullets is found half sunk, a corpse or two still aboard, while others, perhaps may be found floating in the moon light, with what is left of their cargo strewn about them. And all for BOOZE and DOLLARS.

$6 RUM HAUL IN EVERETT DRUG STORE

Discerning thieves, with a penchant for quality liquor, made an $1,830 haul in the basement of the drug store of E. S. Dodge at No. 207 Main street, Everett.

In a cupboard in the cellar of the store the thieves found the following:

Twenty-five gallons of rye whiskey, valued at $750.

Fifteen and a half gallons of rum, valued at $85.

Thirty-four gallons of bourbon whiskey, valued at $1,002.

Five pints of gin valued at $14.

Five pints of brandy, valued at $25.

The thieves used an automobile to carry away their loot.

Jiu Jitsu Course Is Scheduled for New York Police

New York, Oct. 20.—New York police are to be taught the Japanese art of self-defence, jiu-jitsu. William Frantzen of Bremen, Germany, said to be the greatest exponent of this style of wrestling in the world, has come here at the invitation of Inspector Thomas J. Fay, to teach the science to the force.

TRAPS HIS WIFE AFTER SHE GETS A BOB

Salem, Oct. 20.—When Mrs. Maria Palermo, wife of a wealthy Haverhill coal dealer and mother of four children, bobbed her hair, her husband, Nicolio, became suspicious.

He hired two detectives, and as a result of what he and they claim to have seen, Palermo brought suit for divorce, alleging unfaithfulness.

The case was taken under advisement by Judge Alden P. White today.

Palermo testified the couple were married June 30, 1915, and that he gave his wife everything she wanted. Last July, he said, she asked his permission to bob her hair. Palermo said he refused. Two weeks later, however, Mrs. Palermo appeared with a shingle bob, and her husband's suspicions were aroused. One night the coal dealer and detectives watched Mrs. Palermo leave a Salisbury Beach dance hall with a male acquaintance of Palermo.

Palermo said the couple entered an automobile and, followed by the detectives and himself in another machine, drove away from the beach. On a lonely spot on the Hampton road, he said, they came upon Mrs. Palermo and the man.

"One cannot imagine the terror the Klan inspires in certain sections of the South. It lurks everywhere."

Miss Bowditch, who is a graduate of Dorchester High School and the Gordon Bible College, is contemplating entering the Bible Seminary in New York in preparation for missionary work in foreign fields.

Dr. Dyzart plans to go overseas eventually, possibly as the medical officer of the mission to which his wife is attached.

SEVERAL HURT IN ALTOONA WRECK

Pittsburgh, Oct. 20.—The Commercial Express on the Pennsylvania Railroad was derailed today near Longfellow, Pa., half-way between Altoona and Harrisburg, the Pittsburgh offices of the road were advised this afternoon.

A relief train was sent out from Altoona with doctors and nurses aboard.

The train, operating between St. Louis and Pittsburgh, was eastbound. It is one of the crack trains on the Pennsylvania system.

Later advices received by the Pennsylvania offices here were that the dining car and three sleepers on the rear of the train went over an embankment. The coaches immediately behind the locomotive were derailed. Anumber of persons were injured, it was said.

MAN WHO RECLAIMED $30,000,000 FROM SEA DIES

South Orange, N. J., Oct. 20.—Funeral services for Patrick B. Delaney, inventor, will be held here Wednesday, and he will be buried at Nantucket, Mass., on Thursday.

For many years an associate of Thomas A. Edison, Mr. Delaney was the inventor of more than 200 major devices, most of which were of an electrical nature. Among his inventions is a detector of precious metals, the use of which resulted in recovering $30,000,000 in gold and silver from the Laurentic, torpedoed in the World War off the coast of Ireland.

MAHONEY IS TRAINMEN LEGISLATIVE AGENT

Charles J. Mahoney, one of the best-known labor leaders in America, has again been elected legislative agent of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and will at again as a member of the all-important compact board which adjusts wages, working conditions and settles questions of seniority on all railroads of the United States and Canada.

Chas. J. Mahoney

The compact board is composed of six conductors and six trainmen chosen from all the employes in the United States and the Dominion of Canada.

MARY IN MAN'S ROLE; BETRAYED BY HIGH HEELS

High heeled shoes betrayed the real sex of Mary Riley when she doffed herself up in men's clothes and went for a stroll on Washington street.

Patrolman Copeland is a married man, and has bought many a pair of high heeled shoes in his time. Strolling along behind her he noticed the shortness of her stride. Then he noticed the height of her heels, which weren't common sense heels at all, and her arrest followed shortly.

Miss Riley said she lived on Waltham street. She was arraigned in Municipal Court today charged with being intoxicated. The case was continued one week.

DANIELS TO TESTIFY FOR U. S. IN BIG OIL SUIT

Los Angeles, Oct. 20.—Ex-Secretary Josephus Daniels is to arrive today to testify in the government's suit against the Doheny interests for cancellation of Elk Hills naval oil reserve leases, trial of which is to open in Federal Court tomorrow.

Edwin Denby, who was Secretary of the Navy when the leases were granted to E. L. Doheny's Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company by Albert B. Fall, then Secretary of the Interior, arrived, and Curtiss D. Wilbur, present head of the Navy Department, is expected to testify before the trial is concluded.

PROTEST TO SOVIET OVER BEATING POLES

Warsaw, Oct. 20.—The Polish charge d'affaires in Moscow has protested to the Soviet Government against attacks alleged to have been made upon four Polish officials in Russia, Adam Tarnowski, secretary of the Legation in Moscow and M. Morelowski, a member of the Polish Reparation Commission, were fatally beaten in Leningrad, and two other members of the legation were attacked elsewhere.

MUSCLE SHOALS POWER MAY BE SOLD BY ARMY

Washington, Oct. 20.—With the Muscle Shoals power plants due for completion next July, Secretary Weeks indicated today that he would take steps to make temporary use of the power to be produced if Congress had not by that time acted on the offers for acquisition of the plants. The War Department is merely custodian, and it is under this authority that Mr. Weeks would act if completion of the power plants made it advisable to put them into operation, selling the power to users.

CIVILIAN EXPERTS STUDY PLANS FOR WAR HOUSING

Washington, Oct. 20.—War Department plans for housing troops in the event of any future war emergency were studied at the Department today by a score or more of civilians who are regarded as experts in construction problems. Many of those invited by the Department to join in the conference served the government during the war in connection with cantonment construction.

LEAGUE TO PASS ON TURKS-BRITISH ROW

Geneva, Oct. 20 (A.P.)—Officials of the League of Nations announced today that a sufficient number of favorable replies had been received from member nations to warrant the assurance that a special meeting of the Council to settle the differences between Great Britain and Turkey over the Irak boundary would be held. This meeting, it was stated, would be held at Brussels October 27, instead of at Paris as had been originally intended.

STRIKING SHOPMEN ENTITLED TO JURY TRIAL

Washington, Oct. 20.—Railroad employes who joined the shopmen's strike of 1922 were entitled to jury trial under the Clayton Act when charged with contempt of court, it was held today by the Supreme court. The relationship of employer and employe does not cease, the court held, when a workman goes on strike and the provisions of the Clayton Act for protection of the employe therefore apply under such circumstances.

ARNSTEIN NEED NOT ANSWER, SAYS COURT

Washington Oct. 20.—Reviewing at the request of the government its decision in the Nicky Arnstein case, Supreme Court today reaffirmed six previous judgments and reiterated that a bankrupt could not be compelled in court to answer questions which in his judgment tended to incriminate him.

SOUTH BOSTON MAN IS HURT IN TRUCK CRASH

Rosario Busciert of East Third street, South Boston, received multiple injuries today when an auto truck collided with a wagon in which he was riding at North ashington and Thatcher streets, North End. Busciert was thrown to the street. He was taken to the Haymarket Relief Station. The auto truck, police say, was driven by Otis Parker of Waltham.

HARVARD STUDENTS IN ROW WITH COPS FREED

As an aftermath of a row with Cambridge police in Harvard square, William G. Brundar and Carl Moser, Harvard students, were in Cambridge District Court today. Moser was charged with drunkenness and Brundar with trying to rescue his friend from the police. The cases were filed.

SHAVER CALLED BEFORE FUND PROBERS

Washington, Oct. 20.—Because of the inability of Joseph R. Grundy and other witnesses from Philadelphia to reach Washington until Wednesday, the special Senate investigating committee will take up tomorrow campaign expenditures by the Democratic National Committee.

Clem L. Shaver, chairman, and James W. Gerard, treasurer, of the Democratic committee, have been asked to be present. They will be expected to present figures covering the period from the inception of the campaign to about the middle of this month, and will be requested to make further reports later as of October 20, October 25 and November 1. A promise to furnish similar reprots has been made by officials of the Republican and independent organizations.

The probers will take up La-Follette's charges that the Republicans are raising a huge "slush fund" for use in various States before going into the question of what funds are being collected and expended by the American Federation of Labor in behalf of the LaFollette-Wheeler National ticket.

Taking cognizance of the statement by Chairman Butler of the Republican National Committee that Lafolette supporters in Wisconsin are undertaking to raise a fund of $500,000 in that State, Senator Borah said he would telegraph to Governor Blaine for a statement of the facts.

TORIES AND LABORITES CONFIDENT OF VICTORY

London, Oct. 20.—Bitter recrimination from all sides marks the warming up of the political campaign as it nears the last week before election.

The Tories, gaining in confidence, now are talking of securing a safe majority, while optimists at labor headquarters are predicting an increase in strength by a hundred seats.

FILIPINOS LOOT CHINESE SHOPS IN MANILA RIOT

Manila, Oct. 20 (I.N.S.)—Rioting between Filipinos and Chinese continued here today. More than 300 Chinese shops were wrecked in a two-day race riot. Five hundred special police are patrolling the Chinese section of the city, from which Filipinos have been barred. Riot guns were being used to quell the disorders. Scores were injured. More than 250 Filipinos were jailed.

SLAYER BEGS TO SEE GIRL VICTIM IN HER COFFIN

Grandhaven, Mich., Oct. 20.—Egbert Dyke, confessed slayer of Milly Fleming, school teacher, whose body was found in a woodshed, was arraigned today on a murder charge.

Dyke confessed he killed Miss Fleming when she refused his final plea to give up his rival.

"All I want is to see my darling girl in her coffin, but they won't let me do that" he sobbed in his cell today. "If I could see her pretty face once more, I would be content to die."

WALTER JOHNSON GETS OVATION IN HOME TOWN

Coffeyville, Kan., Oct. 20. — In gala attire, Coffeyville today honored Walter Johnson, pitcher for the Washington World's Champions, upon his return home.

At Forest Park a crowd estimated at 10,000 persons participated in Walter Johnson Day and witnessed a ball game between the Coffeyville Refiners and the Caney Blues, with Walter pitching for the Refiners. Every store was closed and even school children were given a day off.

ANOTHER HUSBAND CLAIMS LYNN AUTO VICTIM'S ESTATE

2 TELL OF ROMANCES BROKEN

Latest Is No. 1 From Portsmouth, Father of Her Three Children

When an automobile accident at Wells Beach, Me., cut short the earthly span of Mrs. Laura Duverger, sixty-five years old, of Liberty street, Lynn, a rather startling array of romances in the life of the elderly woman were brought to light.

Killed in the Wells Beach accident with Mrs. Duverger was her supposed husband, Arthur W. Duverger, but two other men, both claiming to be husbands of the dead woman have now turned up to claim a share of her $5,000 estate.

The first of the mysterious husbands to appear in Lynn and claim a part of the estate was George F. Davis, a taxidermist of Exeter, N. H., who presented indisputable proof that Mrs. Duverger had been married to him years before and had never secured a divorce.

SECOND HUSBAND SHOWS UP.

Just as it looked as if the executors of the woman's estate would have to give the husband, Davis, a share of the money, another man appeared. He is Joseph Goodwin of Maine, formerly of Portsmouth, N. H., who has positive proof that Mrs. Duverger was his wife, marrying him before she married Davis.

The two "husbands" of the dead woman got real chummy while discussing the affairs of the late Mrs. Duverger, their wife, and some interesting facts were brought to light. After Goodwin was married his wife bore him four children, three of whom are now living.

Domestic life palled on her finally, and she disappeared from home and next turned up in Exeter, N. H., where, after a couple of years, she married Davis. Married life with the taxidermist failed to prove attractive and after a few months Mrs. Goodwin-Davis moved on to Lynn, where she went into partnership with Duverger in the operation of a boarding house.

CLAIMS BODY.

Mrs. Davis again contemplated matrimony, but she felt a fear that husband No. 2 might learn of it. She refused, however, to worry about husband No. 1, back in Maine.

When an unknown man was killed at Seven Hill Beach, Dorchester, the boarding house proprietress appeared on the morgue and claimed the body. She declared it was her missing husband No. 2 and she finally convinced the authorities and the insurance company that it was Davis who had come to an untimely end.

The body was buried as Davis and his "wife" was paid the insurance money. Again a romance blossomed in the life of the "widow." This time she was lead to the altar by her business partner, Duverger. This wedding took place in Lynn, three years ago.

Shortly after her latest venture, the woman then known as Mrs. Duverger, heard disquieting reports from New Hampshire. These reports, coming from a friend, were to the effect that Davis was very much alive and might be expected to show up in Lynn at any time.

Mrs. Duverger then told Husband No. 3 that owing to some slight mistake, she still had Davis as a husband. She then instituted divorce proceedings against Davis, but continued her marital relations with Duverger. Goodwin, Husband No. 1 and the only legal husband the woman ever had, was never mentioned.

That Mrs. Duverger was very badly puzzled over her own status is indicated by her will, in which she disposes of $5,000. She left the money simply "to my heirs," neglecting to name anyone specifically.

The three children of the woman to Goodwin, Roy T. Goodwin of South Acton, Me., Harry S. Goodwin of North Dartmouth and Leon Goodwin, will also file claims for a portion of the estate.

HOUNDS WHICH PRINCE WILL FOLLOW ON NORTH SHORE

SCENE ON TUCKERMAN ESTATE

PRINCE REACHES HAMILTON ON WEDNESDAY

The Prince of Wales and his royal suite are due to arrive at Sayin Farm, the Tuckerman estate in Hamilton in time for luncheon on Wednesday.

From the moment the foot to the British throne sets foot on Massachusetts soil he will be caught in a whirlpool of social revels which will last the better part of three days.

After luncheon on Wednesday the Prince and other guests of the Bayard Tuckermans, will follow the hounds after which he will be entertained at a tea to which 200 of the elite have been invited by the Tuckermans.

Wednesday evening Mrs. John S. Lawrence will give a dinner and dance in the Prince's honor at her country place in Topsfield.

HUNT ON THURSDAY.

On Thursday the Prince and his party will be entertained at luncheon in Ipswich. He will follow the hounds in the afternoon and attend a dinner and dance at Beverly Farms.

A smart hunt has been arranged for Friday morning. The Prince's party will leave Hamilton early on Friday in order to board the White Star liner Olympic which is scheduled to sail from New York at 1 a. m. on Saturday.

The Prince and his party will leave the train that bears them from Montreal, at a way station in Massachusetts and motor to Hamilton.

Bayard Tuckerman, Jr., who is to be host to the Prince, announced a program crowded with dinners, luncheons, teas and "drags." The Prince is not expected to ride in a regular fox hunt unless he decides to arise at a very early hour on Friday.

In the so-called "drags," to be held Wednesday and Thursday afternoons, the hounds follow an artificial scent from a bag of linseed oil dragged ahead of them. It is said by hunters that a "drag" is often even more spectacular than a real fox hunt as the hounds frequently show greater speed because of the stronger scent. This affords greater action for horses and riders in galloping through woods and fields and taking barriers and jumps.

FIFTY AT LUNCHEON.

The public will not be admitted to the Tuckerman estate to see the Prince. The grounds will be open to quite a few guests not included in the more select group that will attend the house events. About fifty will grace the luncheon on Wednesday.

On Friday morning the regular weekly fox hunt of Myopia Hunt Club will take place, whether the Prince elects to participate or not.

The Prince and his party will be the only house guests of the Tuckermans. Chief Southwick of Hamilton and Captain Parker of the State constabulary will police the grounds.

Prince Bans Motorcycles; Constabulary to Walk

Because the Prince of Wales has a particular aversion to motorcycle cops, a squad of Massach setts State Constabulary assigned to Hamilton during his stay there, will have to plod about the countryside on foot.

The constabulary will be under the command of Sergeant Herbert J. Stengel. It is known the Prince doesn't like motorcycle cops, but when Captain Parker of the State constabulary was asked if that is the reason his men will be on foot, he refused to discuss the point.

In addition to the squad of constabulary, two State detectives have been assigned to Hamilton to help guard the Prince.

LITTLE HONEY IN HONEYMOON, SAYS JUDGE

Salem, Oct. 20.—There was very little honey in the honeymoon of Frank L. Marshall, official of the Harvard Trust Company of Cambridge, and his bride, Judge Alden P. White remarked in divorce court today.

The comment was made after hearing testimony as to the constant bickering of the couple while they lived with Mrs. Nina Churchill on Clarendon avenue, Lynn.

Marshall, who lives in Lynn, testified his wife, Beatrice L. Marshall, now of Los Angeles, was a nurse when he married her May 15, 1921. He was a widower, he said, and she had been a friend of his first wife.

They lived together a little over one month, the witness said, his wife deserting him June 26, 1921.

Marshall said the trouble was due to his inability to live on the scale which his wife demanded. He said he came home to their apartment on exclusive North Shore Drive one afternoon to find Mrs. Marshall packing.

When he attempted to dissuade her from leaving she slammed the door in his face. Judge White reserved decision.

M'DONALD PLEADS TO BE RE-ELECTED

London, Oct. 20 (I.N.S.).—Premier Ramsay MacDonald, who is facing a hard fight for re-election to Commons in the Aberavon district, issued an election statement today, making direct appeal to the people to return him to power.

"I ask the country to give me power to carry on the work of the Labor Party," said the manifesto. "If only a minority of the government Laborites won it would rid the country of its confidence in the Labor Party. I desire the country to give me power to carry on our work for the greatest cause in the world—peace."

Stamps to Honor Holy Year

Rome, Oct. 20.—A special set of stamps, depicting the four principal Roman churches and the opening and closing of the jubilee will be issued to commemorate holy year, the government announced.

WALTHAM BOY, SHOT BY CHUM, IS DYING

Old Revolver Found on Dump Proves to Be a Fatal Plaything

One small boy found a revolver somewhere in Waltham today. Another produced some cartridges.

As a result, Peter Orifice, nine years old, of No. 30 Sun street, Waltham, is dying at Waltham Hospital. He was shot in the abdomen.

Kosie Elovaria, 12 years old, of No. 6 Sun street, has admitted firing the shot. As the police are convinced it was accidental, the frightened youth faces nothing worse than a domestic court martial when his father comes home.

One of the boys in Orifice's "gang" found the revolver on a dump, according to the youngsters.

Another remembered that there were some cartridges at home. He ran to get them and they prepared to indulge in a little target practice.

Elovaria was holding the weapon, after it was loaded. Orifice was standing in front of him. Someone jostled Elovaria's arm, and Peter fell.

BEVERLY SHOE OFFICIAL DIES IN NORTH STATION

Robert Johnson, 47 years old, of No. 251 Hale street, Beverly, manager of the Shoe & Leather Mercantile Agency, No. 185 Essex street, Boston, was taken ill in the North Station today while on his way to his office. He was on his office. He was dead on arrival at the Haymarket Relief station. Death was due to natural causes.

'EVE' GRANTED DECREE FROM SUTTER

Maine Woods "Adam" Fails to Contest Her Plea for Divorce

"Adam" and "Eve" are no longer one.

As a result of a ruling in the Suffolk divorce court today, they will never again visit the dense Maine woods together.

Their "Eden" was ruined by a woman, according to Mrs. Margaret Sutter who was granted a decree nisi by Judge McLeod.

Questioned by her counsel, ex-Mayor William E. Weeks of Everett, Mrs. Sutter said the trouble started shortly after she and her husband, Carl, had completed their back to nature life in the Maine woods in 1922.

The woman in the case, Mrs. Sutter testified, was Miss Anna Lix of the Back Bay.

Her testimony was corroborated by an affidavit made by Alfred J. Nunes, who said that one night in December, 1922, Miss Dix and Sutter spent the night in his room, which he was present, at Presque Isle, Me.

At that time the Sutters were appearing in a "William Tell" act at a Presque Isle theatre.

Mrs. Sutter also testified that she found her husband's signature on a hotel register, something later. He had registered under the name of Charles Anson and wife. Anson is his middle name, the witness said. The suit was uncontested, neither Sutter nor Miss Dix being in court. The couple were married in 1916.

18,475 VOTE IN AMERICAN STRAW POLL

Coolidge Still Has a Strong Lead in Bay State Voting

there vote for the candidate they represent.

The meetings of electors will be held at about the same time in State capitols everywhere.

The votes will be sealed, directed to the President of the United States Senate, and sent to Washington by special messenger.

266 TO ELECT.

In Washington, they will be counted—the result, of course, will have been known to the public ever since Election Day, or a day later—and the person receiving the largest number of votes "shall be President." So reads the Constitution.

But what if no candidate receives a majority of the electoral votes. There are 531 of them, from all the States. A majority is 266. What if none of the candidates receives the votes of 266 electors?

In that case, the President will be elected by the House of Representatives.

MAY FALL SHORT.

This does not mean that each Congressman will have one vote, for the Constitutional provision is, on the contrary, that there shall be but 1 vote from each State. "The representation from each State," in the language of the Constitution, shall have 1 vote.

Two weeks before the big day, there are those of long experience and great experience in politics who say that Mr. Coolidge may fall short of the desired 266 votes.

These last two weeks of the battle should prove as interesting as a whole flock of cross-word puzzles. As you read the dispatches from the Central West and the Pacific Coast, you may find it convenient to turn now and then to a list showing the number of votes in the Electoral College. Here is such a table:

Necessary for a choice by the Electoral College 266

The uncertainties today, in the minds of many observers, are New Jersey, Indiana, Iowa and California. The first two, the Presidents is threatened by Davis and in the latter two by La Follette.

Here in New England, the figures of the straw ballot say, everything continues to be Coolidge.

In Massachusetts, the Boston American poll has reached 18,475 voters. President Coolidge leads La Follette by 3,117, while the Third Party candidate tops John W. Davis, Democrat, by 452 votes.

The Bay State figures down to date:

Happy Is The Mother
when the baby is well

Constipation is the bane of babies. Prevent it with half a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin

IT requires no long experience in the bringing up of children to understand that food waste must pass out of the system promptly, and so the intelligent mother will watch the baby's stools.

In infancy the child should have two or three passages in 24 hours, and in childhood one or two. Less than that will soon tell in canker sores, coated tongue, foul breath and restlessness. As these signs develop, promptly give half a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and in a few hours the symptoms will vanish.

Thousands of mothers have reared proud families with no other medicine than Syrup Pepsin, for it has relieved their families of constipation for thirty years. Rev. Mary F. Malcolm, Bells River, Ill., and Mrs. James Richmire, Sterlingville, N. Y., have had great success with it and constantly urge others to use it.

Here you have a laxative ideally suited to family purposes, as it acts gently and without griping, is exceptionally pleasant to take, and contains no opiates or narcotics.

The formula is clearly stated on every package and is a vegetable compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and agreeable aromatics. A bottle, which can be had at any drug store, lasts a family months and costs an average of less than a cent a dose. Give one-half to a teaspoonful, according to age, for constipation, biliousness, loss of appetite, flatulence, belching, and to ward off fevers and colds. You will be grateful to see your child have natural sleep without the use of opiates.

Use it yourself and give it to the adults in the family. There will be less sickness, less absence from work and school. When you see what Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin does for you you will discard pills and powders and salts and nauseating drugs disguised in candy. A remedy like this, that sells over 10 million bottles annually, the largest sale in the world, must have superior merit. We guarantee it or refund your money.

Free Sample Bottle Coupon

There are people who very rightly prefer to try a thing before they buy it. Let them clip this coupon, pin their name and address to it, and send it to the Pepsin Syrup Co., 218 Washington Street, Monticello, Illinois, and a free sample bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will be sent them prepaid by mail. Do not inclose postage. It is free.

MORRISON FOR CHILD LABOR AMENDMENT

A. F. L. Secretary Addresses Meeting of Labor Men on the Common

Passage of the Child Labor Amendment was emphatically urged by Frank Morrison, National Secretary of the American Federation of Labor, one of the two chief speakers at a labor mass meeting on the Common.

Mr. Morrison also explained why the non-partisan committee of the A. F. of L. indorsed La Follette and Wheeler.

Referring to the Child Labor Amendment, he said:

"It merely permits Congress to regulate the hours of children's labor. People will tell you that it will prevent children from doing chores at home and on the farm. That is not so. People will say, let the States do it. I say the American Federation of Labor has worked in the backward States, and without success."

In explaining the indorsement of La Follette and Wheeler, Mr. Morrison said:

"We do not tell anyone how to vote. We merely meet, upon your orders, your members of trade unions, to examine the records of candidates."

He then said the Republican convention would not give more than five minutes to labor's platform arguments. He attacked John W. Davis, who he said, as attorney for J. P. Morgan & Co., went before the Supreme Court and tried to keep $800,000 belonging to the United Mine Workers tied up at a time when the union badly needed the money.

Congressman James A. Frear of Wisconsin, for 20 years an intimate of Senator La Follette, indorsed the candidacy of Congressman Peter F. Tague of Charlestown. He attacked Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Secretary of War Weeks.

The Congressman said La Follette will speak in Boston before the election, having "rivated" the vote of the West.

Congressman Frear charged that Albert B. Fall was once offered a position on the United States Supreme Bench, "but turned it down because there wasn't money enough in it."

Answering a radio speech made by Secretary Weeks, in which he charged Progressives with being "Communists, comrades of Lenin and Trotsky," the Congressman said:

"Burton of St. Paul, one of the best-known chaplains in the American Army, has said the Master was charged with being a radical when he drove the money-lenders from the Temple. Jefferson, Lincoln and Roosevelt were called radical. If that's what they mean when they call us radicals, we're not ashamed."

Charles S. Bird Endorses Child Labor Amendment

Charles Sumner Bird, erstwhile candidate for the Governorship on the progressive ticket, has come out in unqualified fashion for the Child Labor amendment. In a statement Mr. Bird says, in part:

"The Child Labor Amendment is the most important referendum on the Nov. ballot. Twice within 10 years Congress has passed acts prohibiting the employment of children under fourteen years of age. Twice the Supreme Court has declared these acts unconstitutional.

"Who stands in the way? Certainly not President Coolidge, for he is for the amendment. Certainly not that conservative body, the United States Senate, which adopted the amendment by a vote of 63 to 23; in fact every New England Senator, except one, voted for it."

NEW YORK POLL INDICATES COOLIDGE

New York, Oct. 20 (Universal).—The 7,000 additional votes cast during the past week in the New York American's secret presidential poll indicate that President Coolidge will carry New York city by a plurality of 55,321 over Senator La Follette, his nearest rival, and by a plurality of 382,807 over John W. Davis, the Democratic nominee.

At the end of the previous week's poll Coolidge had pluralities of 49,416 over La Follette and 382,098 over Davis. Thus during last week the President held his own, and even added slightly, while Davis gained at the expense of La Follette. This is the way the poll stands:

Vote on poll.	P.C.	Probable vote election day.
Coolidge 21,864	41.34	581,943
Davis 11,240	21.25	299,136
La Follette...19,784	37.41	526,622

LABOR MEN TO FILL HUB PULPITS NOV. 16

More than a score of delegates to the Boston Central Labor Union will occupy the pulpits of the churches of Greater Boston on Sunday, November 16.

The call for volunteers to make addresses on that day was made at a meeting of the central body at Wells Memorial building as the result of an invitation received from the committee in charge of the Greater Boston Federation of Churches campaign to bring about closer and more amicable relations between employer and employes in industry.

QUAKE SHAKES TWO SOUTHERN STATES

Augusta, Ga., Oct. 20.—Slight earth tremors were reported to the Weather Bureau here today by residents of one section of this city. Dr. J. E. Lovejoy, government official here, said the tremors caused his home to shake.

Tremors were reported from Asheville and Hendersonville, N. C., and at other places in the Piedmont section of South Carolina.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 15c and 30c.

RADIO POWER CONDITIONS ANNOUNCED

Commerce Department Outlines Basis for Experimentation Up to 5,000 Watts

Washington, Oct. 20.—Conditions were announced today by the Department of Commerce under which licenses will be issued on a strictly experimental basis for the use in radio broadcasting of power up to 5,000 watts.

The conditions were drafted in line with the recommendation of the National Radio Conference that a general increase in power over 1,000 watts was desirable in all stations to overcome static and give better service to listeners.

Super-power stations having 25,000 to 50,000 watts are not considered in the plan, and each station taking out an experimental license will be considered as a separate entity in view of varying local conditions.

The stations, it is stipulated, may at the outset use a power input to the antenna not exceeding 1,500 watts. If the use of additional power is then found to be in the public interests further increases will be allowed in successive steps of 500 watts.

Reno Relief

HELEN WHITNEY BOURNE.

RENO DIVORCE GIVEN FORMER BOSTON GIRL

Mrs. Helen Cole Whitney Bourne, daughter of Mrs. Charles E. Whitney of Boston, has been granted a divorce at Reno, from George Galt Bourne, on the grounds of excessive mental cruelty. Bourne inherited more than $5,000,000 from his father, the late Commodore Frederick G. Bourne, sewing machine maker and yachtsman.

Mrs. Bourne told Judge Bartlett at Reno she was married January 1, 1913, in New York, and that she was compelled to separate from Bourne on May 10, 1922, after a course of conduct which left her a nervous wreck. Judge Bartlett held that Mrs. Bourne had established a good case of mental cruelty.

Mrs. Bourne left New York for Reno about April 1 of this year and established a home in Reno with a retinue of servants. It was reported at the time she left New York that she was seeking a divorce.

The Bournes were married in the Protestant Episcopal Church of St. Bartholomew, New York city, by the Rev. Dr. Leighton Parks. They made their New York home at No. 383 Park avenue.

Commodore Bourne, father of George Galt Bourne, was sixty-eight years old when he died, March 9, 1919. He accepted one of Sir Thomas Lipton's challenges for the America's Cup and was one of the syndicate which built the Constitution in 1901.

Bigamist Ends Life

New York, Oct. 20.—Samuel Davison, a painter, committed to the Tombs for bigamy, was found dead today from strangulation. He had tied one end of a sheet to his cot and the other around his neck and then reclined on his pillow to die.

NEW AUTOPSY IN BEVERLY MURDER

Dr. Magrath Called to Settle the Manner in Which Risteen Died

There will be still another autopsy upon the body of Fred A. Risteen, murdered Beverly truckman. Dr. George Burgess Magrath, medical examiner for the northern district of Suffolk county, has been invited to make it, in an effort to settle the manner of Risteen's death.

It is as a result of the difference of opinion between physicians employed by Mrs. Marian Risteen and George W. Plummer, Jr., on the one side, and Medical Examiner George A. Stickney of Beverly on the other that the new autopsy has been ordered.

Stickney's contention is that Risteen was strangled and then thrown into Norwood Pond. Physicians employed by the accused wife and her former sweetheart say that the truckman was rendered unconscious by a blow delivered by Plummer during a fight in the woods; that Plummer, thinking him dead, then threw him into the water, and that there was life in Risteen at the time.

William H. McSweeney, counsel for Plummer, may oppose a third autopsy. It was stated today. It also was said the hearing for Mrs. Risteen and Plummer may not take place tomorrow, as M. J. Reardon, counsel for Mrs. Risteen, will probably ask for a change in the complaint so that his client will be charged only with being an accessory.

DAVIS BELIEVES U. S. WILL JOIN LEAGUE

Not Right for 54 Nations to Be Members Without America, He Declares

Washington, Oct. 20.—Democratic National headquarters here has received the following statement by John W. Davis, replying to a direct question whether he favors entrance of the United States into the League of Nations:

"In my speech of acceptance opening the Democratic campaign I expressed my attitude on this question with complete frankness. I said speaking in the measured terms of national interest, it was not wise, or prudent or safe that 54 nations of the world should sit together in conference on world affairs and America be absent.

"I said while this nation could not join the League of Nations helpfully unless and until the common judgment of the American people supported such a step the day will come in my judgment when we should see that both interest and duty dictated the step.

"I do not believe the League of Nations is perfect. I do not believe it has assumed its final form. It believe in life and growth and custom and habit. I am not concerned over about the terms on which we shall appear at the council table of the world.

"Out of that appearance and out of such conference, in God's good time will grow a friendly habit, among men, the custom of calm and reasonable discussion and a proper yielding not to force, not to superstate, not to command, but in the language of the Declaration of Independence itself, to a decent respect for the opinion of mankind."

Capital Punishment a Failure, Declares Sing Sing Warden

Ossining, N. Y., Oct. 20.—In an address at the Summerfield Methodist Church in Fort Chester, Warden Lewis E. Lawes of Sing Sing Prison characterized capital punishment as "a signal failure." "The very elements which make it unenforceable," he said, "are its human ones—which cannot be overcome."

Warden Lawes declared that during a recent six-year period death sentences were imposed for only 3 per cent. of 1,800 homicides in New York City.

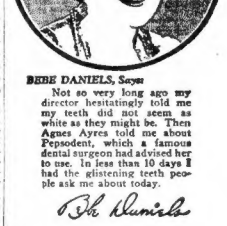
Those $100,000 a year smiles in the Movies



BEBE DANIELS, Says

Not so very long ago my director hesitatingly told me my teeth did not seem as white as they might be. Then Agnes Ayres told me about Pepsodent, which a famous dental surgeon had advised her to use. In less than 10 days I had the glistening teeth people ask me about today.

Bebe Daniels

How motion pictures' famous stars gain the gleaming, pearly teeth that make smiles worth fortunes—how you can clear your own teeth in the same way. A simple test that reveals the most amazing of tooth methods—a new method urged by leading dental authorities of the world.

RAMON NOVARRO, Metro Star, says:

I never go on a set without first looking to my teeth. I've done this ever since I discovered Pepsodent. It removes that cloudy film which, before strong lights and a camera, shows up so unkindly. A noted dentist told me about it, and I've never stopped thanking him. Most of the people before the camera do the same.

Ramon Novarro

SMILES in the cinema world sell for thousands—that is, some smiles. Gleaming teeth are essential. Otherwise a smile can have no value. So these people follow the method here explained not only for the satisfaction and beauty they gain, but as a matter of cold business.

Now a test of this method is offered you—simply use the coupon.

The amazing effect of combating the film which forms on teeth. Dull teeth, dingy, discolored. How they are made whiter, more appealing.

Run your tongue across your teeth and you will feel a film. A film no ordinary dentifrice will successfully remove, yet which absorbs discolorations and clouds and dulls your teeth.

Remove it and your teeth take on a new beauty—a glistening clearness that seems almost incredible. You may have gloriously clear teeth without realizing it. Thousands of people do.

COLLEEN MOORE, First National Star, says:

Results are really astonishing. The public is surprisingly critical of teeth and I am very careful to keep mine in good condition. On the advice of my dentist I use Pepsodent exclusively. One never knows what pretty teeth she has until she attacks the film.

Colleen Moore

New methods remove it

Modern dental science recently discovered ways to remove and combat that film. For besides impairing beauty, it invites most tooth troubles and decay.

It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It holds food substance which ferments and causes acid. And in contact with teeth, this acid causes decay. Germs by the millions breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

You must remove it at least three times daily and constantly combat it. For it is ever forming, ever present.

Now in a new type tooth paste, called Pepsodent, this enemy to tooth health and beauty is successfully fought. And that is the famous tooth "make-up" method of the greatest stars of screen and stage—the dental urge of world's leading dentists. Its action is to curdle the film; then harmlessly to remove it. No soap or chalk, no harsh grit so dangerous to enamel.

MAE MURRAY, Metro Star, says:

In the silent drama, where the whole appeal is to the eye, pretty teeth are tremendously important and formerly a great problem. Today Pepsodent is regarded as perhaps more important than any other part of "make-up." How amazingly it acts one never knows till using it after ordinary, old-fashioned methods.

Mae Murray

Cercle Francais 'Tuning Up' Its French for the December Production

By BETTY ALDEN

A BAND of entertaining amateur Thespians are meeting this afternoon at the Braggiotti residence on Brookline way.

A tryout for the first Harvard Cercle Francais presentation of the season is the occasion for the meeting.

Among those present at this informal gathering will be jolly "Ros" Adie; Miss Mary Murray, recently returned from one of her frequent jaunts across the big pond; Miss Helen Grew; Miss Edith Parker, a prominent debutante of last season, as well as lovely Francesca Braggiotti, or "Cesca," as her friends call her.

Of this male contingent present will be John Lodge, grandson of Senator Lodge, and president of the Cercle Francais. Young Lodge, by the way, is to receive his sheepskin from the university across the Charles next June. Gordon Bell, Herald Coolidge and a number of freshmen are also taking part in today's tryout.

AS a matter of fact, this same group met last Thursday night at the Braggiottis, but there was so much to talk about—both business and social—that this second meeting was called.

This is just the time of year when many folks haven't seen each other since early Summer, and when they do meet, a rapid fire of questions is the result.

"Ros" Adie, of course, came in for all sorts of good wishes upon her recently announced bethrothal to Robert Almy. The "peppy" daughter of the Andrew Adies is, I understand, to have an important part in this coming production of the Cercle.

AS for the play itself, the name of it is "On le Monde s'ennuit," and early in December it will be put on at the Fine Arts Theatre.

Former presentations of this group of French-speaking players have been held at this theatre, with the usual smart audience attending them.

The Cercle Francais of Harvard is composed of Harvard students and young women of society. Though the latter aren't, of course, members of the university's student body, it was decided their Thespian talent was quite indispensable to the Cercle Francais.

The role of a sweet young thing with a rose-petal complexion and pansy-like eyes cannot successfully be portrayed by any Harvard man, no matter to what heights his talents may soar.

THOUGH Ethel Thayer wasn't present at the Thursday meeting I believe that she is to take part in the December presentation.

"Polly" Thayer—as the daughter of Mrs. Ezra Ripley is better known to her intimates—is one of the cleverest players of the Cercle Francais. Incidentally, she was one of the first girls hereabouts to adopt the "shingle" bob.

MISS MARY VINTON MURRAY

Talented daughter of Dr. and Mrs. T. Morris Murray of Marlboro street, who has recently returned from abroad, is prominent in the activities of the Harvard Cercle Francais.

BOSTON WOMEN RUN SCHOOL OF POLITICS

A unique school, which will be in session two days, was opened today by the Massachusetts and Boston Leagues of Women Voters. It is a school of politics, and is being conducted to explain what the various political parties stand for in the campaign, how they differ on questions of domestic and foreign policy and the significance of the Progressive movement. All women may attend, whether members of either league or not.

Mrs. W. M. Wheeler.

The school opened at Pilgrim Hall at two o'clock with a discussion of "How Party Platforms Are Made" by Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird, Republican, and Mrs. LaRue Brown, Democrat. Following this Professor Brewer G. Whitemore of Tufts College compared the platforms of the Democratic and Republican parties.

This evening at eight o'clock the session will be devoted entirely to the Progressive Party Movement. Professor Henry R. Mussey of Wellesley College will be spokesman for the party. Tuesday morning there will be a session in the 20th Century Club. There will be discussion of three referenda questions. The question of a gasoline tax, prohibition and the child labor movement will be taken up. At two o'clock Tuesday afternoon national issues will be discussed. Among the speakers will be Senator David I. Walsh. Tuesday evening the political parties will come in for consideration. A prominent woman from each of the three leading parties will tell why she votes for her party.

Mrs. Colin W. MacDonald, vice-chairman of the Democratic State Committee, will tell why she votes Democratic; Miss Alice Stone Blackwell why she votes as a Progressive; and Mrs. William Morton Wheeler, vice-president of the Republican City Committee will give her reasons for voting for the Republican ticket.

SUPREME BENCH WELCOMES SANDERSON

New Associate Justice Formally Inducted on State's Highest Court

Justice George A. Sanderson was installed as a member of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts today.

Chief Justice Arthur P. Rugg was delayed in arriving from his home in Worcester by the breaking down of a locomotive, and the ceremony started at 10:15, instead of 9:30, as had been planned. The court room was crowded with lawyers, judges and friends and neighbors of the new associate justice from Middleton, formerly of the Superior bench.

Walter Frederick, the clerk, read Governor Cox's commission. The chief justice and the other justices arose and bowed to their new associate. Justice Sanderson bowed in return and the ceremony was over. Then the docket was taken up. There are 151 cases.

BRITISH, FRENCH FORCES LAND IN CANTON, CHINA

Troops Are Looting and Robbing as Citizens Flee From City

Canton, Oct. 20 (A.P.).—While Chinese troops continued looting and robbing citizens here today, British and French armed naval forces were landed to protect the foreign concession and boats plying between Hong Kong and Canton made extra trips to carry persons fleeing from Canton.

The naval forces put ashore today brought with them machine guns with which to protect bridges in the foreign concession. British military forces also are arriving from Hong Kong.

Clashes of the rival factions and the expected arrival of Chen Kwing-Ming with a fully armed force of 15,000 are causing alarm. The Merchant's Volunteer Corps, whose differences with the so-called "Red Army" of Chinese laborers precipitated the trouble in Canton, is concentrating its forces at Shiuhing, west of Canton, with a view to making a final effort to expel the troops from this city.

The British consul has been accused of harboring Chan Lim Pak, head of the Merchants' Volunteer Corps, and other officials of that organization, within the foreign concession.

Wellesley Girls Vote to Help Dad Save Hard Earned Cash

Economy is fast becoming the watchword of Wellesley College girls. They are realizing the American dollar comes hard for Dad and are putting a check on expense.

Their latest step in economy is adoption of a resolution by fifty of representative seniors abolishing the age old custom of presenting alumnae rings to heads of college organizations, sports and other activities. Another resolution abolishes the giving by college organizations of flowers to students. This year fifty rings at $16 each would be required, and the girls declare the money spent yearly on flowers for students is "simply staggering."

GET 3 SUSPECTS IN LOOTING OF YACHTS

Police Believe Arrest of Boys Solves Mystery of Waterfront Robberies

Through the arrest today of three East Boston boys, the harbor police believe they have solved the mystery of the looting of a large number of motorboats and yachts along the waterfront.

The boys were captured in the E-788 at Jeffries Point, East Boston, from which craft they are alleged to have stolen several hundred dollars' worth of valuables.

They gave their names as James W. O'Brien, sixteen years old, of Haynes street; John E. L. Jameson, twenty-one years old, of Haynes street, and Vincent Beatrice, sixteen years old, of Marginal street.

They were captured by Sergeant Dunn and Officers Morrill and Harris of the police boat Guardian.

'DUDE' CROOKS ROB GIRL AND HER GUEST

Gunmen Imitate the Men Who Held Up Miss Bobe and Her Escort

New York, Oct. 20.—Three armed men, young and well dressed, forced their way into the West Side apartment of Miss Helen Haywood early today and robbed her of a platinum diamond ring, valued at $1000, and took a watch valued at $400 from Alfred Shannon, a guest.

The actions of the gunmen were similar in many respects to those of the men who recently robbed Miss Edith Bobe, modiste, and an escort of jewelry valued at $50,000.

The men, entering the apartment house shortly after Miss Haywood had returned home, forced the elevator operator to take them to Miss Haywood's apartment. Forcing an entrance there, they held up Miss Haywood and three guests, but took only Miss Haywood's ring and Shannon's watch, although jewelry to a considerable value is believed to have been in the apartment at the time.

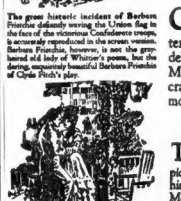
BARBARA FRIETCHIE

From the Play by CLYDE FITCH — Featuring FLORENCE VIDOR

The great historic incident of Barbara Frietchie defiantly waving the Union flag in the face of the victorious Confederate troops, is accurately reproduced in the screen version. Barbara Frietchie, however, is not the gray-haired old lady of Whittier's poem, but the daring, exquisitely beautiful Barbara Frietchie of Clyde Fitch's play.



The wonderful romance of Barbara Frietchie and Captain Trumbull threads its way through the picture with a true background of Southern loveliness and beauty. Never has there been presented on the screen a love-story of greater strength or more human appeal. It depicts a love that knew no North or South — a love that was so strong, it remained so nothing even the supreme sacrifice.

The Greatest Love Story in American History!

WHEN a relative of Barbara Frietchie's vividly narrated the flag incident to Mrs. E. D. E. N. Southworth, the popular novelist of a generation ago, the writer was thrilled. She wanted to put it into a novel. But she felt unequal to doing it justice. In the intense glow of her interest, she suggested it to the poet, John Greenleaf Whittier. His response was instant. He wrote his great poem.

—This was the first Barbara Frietchie

CLYDE FITCH, with the magic of his genius, transformed Barbara Frietchie into a play. To give greater dramatic interest and romance, he took the liberty of making Barbara a delightful, charming young girl, a role admirably played by Julia Marlowe. The dramatist wrote this play, not as a mere bit of stagecraftsmanship but as a tender, loving tribute to the romance of his mother and father.

—This was the second Barbara Frietchie

Now the New and Greatest Barbara Frietchie

THE marvelous possibilities of the play were seen for screen production. Historic personages that loomed large at the time were drafted into the picture as vital elements in the unfolding of the big human story. Great historic events like the spectacular duel between the Monitor and the Merrimac at Hampton Roads were blended in to form a perfect picture.

The heroine Barbara Frietchie, young, beautiful, charming, perverse, loving, gentle, stern, frank, reserved, timid, courageous, with a heart of gold—a bundle of contradictions and paradoxes, everything by turns and nothing long—this delightful creation is wonderfully interpreted by the beautiful and ever popular screen star, Florence Vidor.

CHARLES RANN KENNEDY AT WOMEN'S CITY CLUB

An audience that taxed the capacity of the rooms of the Boston Women's City Club turned out today in honor of Edith Wynne Matthison, her husband, Charles Rann Kennedy, and Margaret Gage, who were luncheon guests. Mrs. Richard G. Hopkins of Chestnut Hill presided, and introduced the visitors as dramatic idealists who had been able to maintain their ideals.

Mr. Kennedy, well known as the author of "The Servant in the House," as well as an actor, outlined his present plan of writing and producing a series of nine plays, in which he will appear with his wife and Miss Gage. The first of these productions, "The Chastening," which was given last year, will be repeated the evening of October 31. The second, "The Admiral," a story of Columbus, will have its premier in this city at Steinert Hall, Saturday afternoon and evening, November 11. It will be presented at Beverly this evening.

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic Coughs and Persistent Colds Lead to Serious Lung Trouble. You Can Stop Them Now With Creomulsion, an Emulsified Creosote That Is Pleasant to Take.

Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, Creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membrane and stop the irritation and inflammation while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.

STILLMAN MAY DROP FIGHT ON WIFE

Divorce Truce Reported, Even if the Reconciliation of Couple Is Denied

New York, Oct. 20 (I.N.S.).—Pros and cons of rumored truce in the Stillman divorce case were taken up by the New York society today despite denials of a reconciliation from Mondanne, the Stillman estate at Pleasantville, N. Y.

James A. Stillman, the banker, and Mrs. Anne U. Stillman met at Mondanne, when the banker attended the wedding of their daughter, Anne, Henry Pomeroy Davison. Mrs. Stillman's greeting to her husband was cordial, but her friends said it was only the expression of a hostess to her guest.

Isaac N. Mills, counsel for Mrs. Stillman, said today he had not been informed that Stillman intended to drop his effort to procure divorce.

Stillman, who sued for divorce naming an Indian guide, Fred Beauvais as co-respondent, and who sought to question the legitimacy of little Guy Stillman, went up from New York for the wedding Saturday and returned after the ceremony.

After the meeting the rumor gained credence that Stillman had ordered all legal proceedings against his wife stopped. He has been uniformly unsuccessful in court, losing his suit for divorce and being defeated in the action against Baby Guy, whose legitimacy was established by the court.

At the wedding Stillman found Guy in the centre of an admiring group, arguing with little Trubee Davison, three, over which had the largest white carnation. Stillman penetrated the crowd to bestow a smile on the youngster.

After the ceremony Mrs. Stillman offered her husband a smile and an invitation to go with her into an adjoining room, where the wedding cake was cut. This offer was accepted with a look that guests said bespoke admiration.

BUTLER CONVINCED OF AN "OPPOSITION" PLOT

Chicago, Oct. 20. — Conferences with "some 150 State and district leaders" last week convinced chairman William M. Butler of the Republican National Committee of "the open alliance" between Democratic and third party leaders in certain States, he declared today. "The open alliance," the statement said "to throw the election into Congress and thus deprive the voters of their right to elect a President at the polls, has stiffened the determination to block this plan by voting for Calvin Coolidge."

LA FOLLETTE TO MAKE SPEECH IN BOSTON

Declares the Progressives Will Carry New York, Get Big Popular Vote

La Follette, Special, en Route to Omaha, Neb., Oct. 20.—Swinging through Iowa and Nebraska, Senator Robert M. La Follette, Independent presidential candidate, today began his final invasion of the corn belt.

Following speeches in Omaha tonight, at Rock Island, Illinois, Tuesday and Peoria, Wednesday, La Follette will head eastward for a ten days' campaign.

From Peoria La Follette will go to Grand Rapids October 22, Syracuse, N. Y., October 24; Baltimore October 27 and Brooklyn October 28. Saturday and Sunday he plans to stop his private car at some small town between Syracuse and Baltimore in order to rest and prepare his speeches for the last week of the drive.

Boston and Providence have tentatively been listed on La Follette's itinerary after his Brooklyn engagement. If this plan is carried through, La Follette then will go to Pittsburgh and close his campaign in Cleveland on the Saturday night before election.

La Follette today predicted the Progressives will carry New York and possibly one or two other Eastern States with large electoral votes. La Follette now makes no secret of the fact that one of his chief hopes in the presidential race is to poll a heavy popular vote. This, he thinks, would make certain the formation of a permanent new party after election. The place where he can most easily pile up a large popular vote, La Follette believes, is in the industrial centres of the East.

DAVIS TELLS HENCHMEN NOT TO FEAR LA FOLLETTE

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 20 (A.P.).—Reports given John W. Davis during the last twenty-four hours by Tennessee Democratic leaders here, were summarized by Mr. Davis today in a statement declaring that the national and local tickets in this State will be given "an old-time plurality" two weeks from tomorrow.

Mr. Davis also reiterated his pronouncement that although he believed the La Follette-Wheeler independent ticket would "snatch six or eight States" from Republican columns in November, he saw no reason for the Democratic party to fear that result.

MILLS REOPEN AFTER MEN TAKE PAY CUT

Providence, R. I., Oct. 20.—Having voluntarily accepted a wage cut of 15½ per cent., 1,500 mill workers are back at work in Pawtuxet Valley mills today.

The men are employed at the Royal Hills at Riverpoint, and the Arctic Mills at Arctic.

FALSE ALARM CAUSED 25 DEATHS IN ATHENS

Athens, Oct. 20 (I.N.S.).—Pickpockets were blamed by police today for the false alarm of fire and stampede which cost twenty-five lives with eighteen injured in a motion picture theatre here. Most of the victims were children.

New York, Oct. 20.—William Z. Foster, speaking here in behalf of his campaign as Presidential candidate of the Workers' party, accused Robert M. La Follette, Independent Presidential candidate, of "entering into a deal with Al Smith, the Tammany candidate, with the Socialist party in apparent agreement. La Follette is to hand over the Progressive and Socialists' votes to Smith, and in return Smith will knife Davis and throw his Tammany following to the Wisconsin Senator."

Washington, Oct. 20.—The Democratic national committee issued a statement signed by fifteen leaders or former leaders of veterans' organizations criticising the Republican administration for the treatment given to former service men and urging support for John W. Davis for President.

President Coolidge's attitude was described as "one of misunderstanding, coldness and indifference."

The statement sharply criticized the location of veterans' hospitals at Northampton, Mass., home of Mr. Coolidge while Vice-President, and also in Speaker Gillett's district.

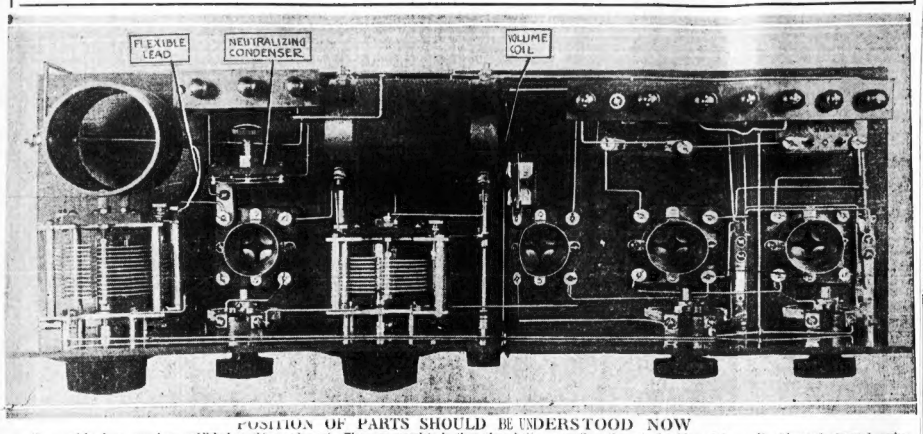
TOP VIEW GIVES IDEA HOW INSTRUMENTS ARE PLACED



POSITION OF PARTS SHOULD BE UNDERSTOOD NOW

Four articles have now been published on this wonder set. They are complete in themselves. Inquires regarding the set should contain a self addressed stamped envelope where reply by mail is desired.

HOW YOU CAN NEUTRALIZE NEW SUPER

Various locations and receiving conditions will determine just how the Super is to be neutralized. It has been found under actual receiving in different locations that the method of neutralizing varies.

When you find that by using your regular antenna and ground you cannot neutralize the set on the short wavelengths, then try one of the following methods:

1—Connect ground only to ground post.

2—Connect ground only to antenna post.

3—Connect antenna only to antenna post.

4—Connect antenna only to loop post.

5—Connect ground only to loop post side.

6—Connect one of loop to loop post and ground to ground post. (This method produces results about equal to an outside antenna).

Another method when used with regular antenna and ground is to turn down the Radio Frequency tube rheostat on short wave stations. This will always stop oscillation of the radio frequency amplifier tube and still give maximum signal. On long wave stations the rheostat will be turned on more.

In many cases it has been found that when using antenna and ground that louder signals were obtained when the ground was disconnected, and the set neutralized much easier.

Another method is to use a UV-199 tube in the R.F. only. Even though six volts is connected to the filament posts just barely turning of the R. F. rheostat will take care of the filament voltage.

If with your antenna connected to its regular post and after trying both antenna posts, you find that the set tunes broadly you may be sure that your antenna is either too long. Experiments show that the set will produce better results on a very short antenna connected to the loop post. Excellent results have been secured on one foot of wire for the antenna, and tuning was extremely sharp.

If the set has been properly made, there is no reason why it should not produce excellent results. Even in a poor location long distance may be secured, although the volume may not be great. From all tests made, the set is apparently as sensitive as a Super Heterodyne.

If you do not care to have the sound of regeneration in the set, you may short out the volume coil and still get your stations.

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal. Easily and cheaply prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous home-made remedy. The prompt relief is almost magical. It is easily prepared, and there is nothing better for coughs.

Into a pint bottle, put 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and disappear. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

(1) I have a Westinghouse RC set using three WD-12 tubes. Can I use 201-A tubes with three dry cells and 22½ volt 'B' batteries? (2) Would I get better results?
J. C. F.

You can use 201-A tubes in place of the WD-12, but your 'A' battery must consist of four dry cells in series. 4½ volts of 'B' Battery on the detector tube and 90 volts on the amplifying tubes. (2) Yes.

(1) Is 20 Mule Team Borax good for use in changing AC to DC? (2) How much should I put in each pint jar? (3) Should I use distilled water or city water? (4) Connecting audio transformer as shown, all I get is 12 volts, with primary I get 45 volts and without either 100 volts. (5) I use 2 megohms grid leaks to cut voltage down, and it reduces it til 1 volt. (6) Do A and B battery connections remain the same on the set as before?
S. B.

(1) Yes. Be sure your solution is saturated. (2) The solution should be just below the cover of the jar when it is in place. (3) Distilled water if obtainable, although not necessary. (4) Check up your wiring, and see if you have condensers of the correct capacity. Have them tested to make sure. A choke coil may be made with fewer turns, as long as it eliminates the hum. (5) The condenser you are using must be incorrect. (6) Your battery connections to your set remain the same as before.

Britain Debates Adopting Bay State Penal Code

MRS. FLEISCHMANN IS BRIDE OF JAY O'BRIEN

MRS. JAY O'BRIEN

Mrs. Julius Fleischmann, who obtained a divorce here last Summer from her millionaire American husband, was married in Paris today to Jay O'Brien.

Paris, Oct. 20 (Ins.)—Mrs. Laura Fleischmann, divorced wife of Julius Fleischmann, yeast millionaire, was married today to Jay O'Brien, polo player.

The ceremony was witnessed by only a few friends of the couple.

Mrs. Fleischmann obtained her divorce here last August. At that time it was reported that her husband had settled $5,000,000 on her. They were married in 1920.

Previously, Mrs. Fleischmann was the wife of Louis Hemingway, a silk manufacturer.

Efforts had been made to avoid publicity, Mrs. Fleischmann's friend had stated she was living on the continent, although it was known she had been living at a quiet hotel in Paris.

OUR LAWS VIEWED AS SUPERIOR

English Alienist Awaits Report of Survey of Prisoners in Mass. Institutions

By GRACE DESCHAMPS

England will try to learn from Massachusetts.

Instead of the gallows, England's murderers and capital criminals will be brought before psychiatrists to learn the "why" of their crimes, if the British Parliament acts upon the plea of Lord Onslow, one of its most distinguished members.

Briggs

Lord Onslow has set before Parliament the substance of Massachusetts' criminal laws and will ask the British government to duplicate them.

British alienists as well as the most notable men of their science on the continent, consider he penal law of Massachusetts the finest in existence and are eagerly awaiting the outcome of the survey of prisoners to be undertaken by this State.

This is the new sidelight on the relative importance of English and American laws, as pertaining to the criminal, brought back to Boston by Dr. L. Vernon Briggs, former state commissioner of mental diseases and widely known psychiatrist.

Dr. Briggs has returned from a tour of Europe during which he was sought out by Europe's most noted experts in criminology and mental diseases for information concerning the laws of Massachusetts.

HONORED IN BRITAIN.

While in London he was made an honorary fellow of the Medico-Psychological Society of Great Britain and Ireland.

In place of England's much vaunted penal laws, which her experts now declare to be out-of-date, she will substitute the Massachusetts statute which forbids the execution of an alleged murderer in less than three months, and other measures designed to aid in tracing the source of the man's criminal tendencies.

"England admits that her laws are old and moth-eaten," declares Dr. Briggs, "and she is ready to make a change if she considers our system better.

"Massachusetts penal laws considered the best in this country, are looked upon with equal respect abroad and many European officials are urging their adoption there.

STATISTICS COMPARED.

"Statistics which have compared the enormous murder figures for the United States with the decidedly low figure in Europe are no longer found to tell the story.

"More murders are committed in Chicago than in any other city in the world, but on the other hand, there are more hangings per capita there than in any other city. So lack of capital punishment hardly explains it.

"England hangs her prisoners with rare dispatch, oftentimes burning later that she hanged the wrong man. Now she finds that hanging is no deterrent to crime and that the most modern, scientific and humanitarian way to solve the problem is to go at things the way Massachusetts is doing, and find out why these men are criminals.

FOUND IN CHILDHOOD.

"You will find it in the man's childhood—before he was seven years old. He may or may not be feeble-minded, but that has nothing to do, necessarily, with his character. His home, the way his mother brought him up—these are the important factors.

"That's why we are examining the tiny school children of Massachusetts and weeding out the abnormal ones, to be treated separately and rid of their vicious tendencies.

'Business Kiss' in New Guise Revealed as Latest Wrecker of Marital Bliss

THE MONKEY BUSINESS KISS—VERY BUSINESSLIKE

THE CONVENTIONAL KISS

SHOULD PARENTS SHARE KISSES?

A business man kissing his wife goodbye. Should he share them with his business partner? Jacques De Veller wanted to, but his wife objected.

Wife Refuses When Husband Requests That She Kiss His Business Partner

Should a woman kiss her husband's business partner at his request?

Jacques De Veller of New York thinks so. His wife does not agree. Jacques sounds like a villain, especially when you hear that he told his wife:

"You kiss my business partner or out I go!"

Was the wife right? What do Boston women think about it?

Add to the list of famous, the ardent ones made famous by Salome, Judas and other princes, you wouldn't want to smack — the Real Kiss. Mrs. De Veller fears that, in addition to regular matrimonial union kisses, she soon expected to put in something kissing Henry Hall partner in the complacent De Veller.

Henry Hall is old.

And Mrs. De Veller does not kiss old men, she says.

"He may have been old, but he had young ideas," she added to her offidemn.

Mr. Hall's ideas and Mrs. De Veller's reaction to them became public property through her separation suit and its "business" hints.

SANITARY BAR UP.

This wifely state of mind can be imagined in sympathy with a recent Soviet ukase against kissing. The restless Russians set forth:

"No more kisses. It's unsanitary."

"No kissing of a lady's hand (assuming that there are Soviet ladies) It's bourgeoise."

"No more handshaking. It communicates disease."

And now Mrs. De Veller against osculation for business purposes! At least, that's better than some of the kissing that's Nobody's Business. Maybe the mean Muscovites are right. Salome's kiss was terribly unsanitary for John the Baptist, because she had to wait until he was beheaded before she could kiss him, John being of that aggravating type. And many people think it served him right.

Post-mortem kissing is less popular than the courtous osculation to be decried and even mistrusted and bizant to the contrary—on the strange loss routine in New York City and Chicago, these osculation was to be soon only about the coaches. Now it is practical downstairs, and quite openly. America is taking [illegible] from [illegible] kissing.

CURLEY K.K. IMITATOR, IS CHARGE

Secretly Hostile to Jews, Assistant U. S. Atty. Stone Declares in Speech

Speaking before the Societe Victor Chouilin at Intercolonial Hall, Roxbury, Assistant United States Attorney Elihu D. Stone accused Mayor Curley of injecting racial and religious prejudice into the gubernatorial campaign.

"In Curley's attempt to invade Beacon Hill he is appealing to the lowest passions," Stone declared.

"There can be no doubt," Mr. Stone continues, "that the Ku Klux Klan is an institution contrary to our philosophy of government, and that its creed does violence to the most essential principles of our American democracy."

FOLLOWS KLAN METHODS.

"It is Looves every good American to repudiate the Invisible Empire, but the Mayor of Boston is using the Klan for his own purposes. In his zeal for power, he imitates the method of the hooded order. Moreover, his conduct in office as Mayor of Boston is such that the Ku Klux Klan would not find it difficult to give its approval in so far as he failed to give recognition to the Jewish element of our citizenship.

"President Coolidge may be a silent leader and Governor Cox may not be guilty of being noisy in his profession of sympathy and friendship for the Jewish people, but their conduct speaks for them much more eloquently than words of mouth can express.

CLASS DISCRIMINATION.

"During his first term as Mayor of Boston, on appointments for Governor denied to Jewish citizens participation in city government. With the exception of a few insignificant jobs. During his present term he did not even exhibit the liberality of his predecessor in office.

"Thus, under his predecessor, there were in Boston members of the Jewish faith occupying the positions of election commissioner and assessor. The present Mayor not only caused their resignation but failed to find in the city of Boston citizens of the Jewish faith worthy of the appointments.

"His course in this regard seems to be in harmony with that of the Ku Klux Klan, which he attempts to identify with the Republican party. All the appointments to office of citizens of the Jewish faith in the Commonwealth were made by Republican Governors.

COST OF LIVING GOES HIGHER IN BOSTON

Washington, Oct. 20.—The cost of living in the United States increased nine-tenths of one per cent. from June to September of this year, although for the year period, beginning with September, 1923, the general level increased by the same amount.

These changes, set forth in a statement today by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Department of Labor disclosed a general increase of two per cent. from December, 1917, to September, 1923.

Increases between June and September were found by 1.8 per cent. in Middle Boston, the average was 1.7 per cent.

Only three of the 25 cities considered in the survey showed decreases during the period. They were Detroit, 0.6 per cent.; Minneapolis, 0.3, and Kansas City, 0.1.

MEDFORD PICKED TO BEAT RINDGE IN BIG SCHOOL BATTLE

LONG LIST OF GAMES ON CARD

By FRED C. LANE.

A better idea as to how Rindge Technical will fare in this year's Suburban League quarrel will be gained Saturday when the Cantabs tackle Medford High, last year's champions. The unexpected defeat of Coach Bill Kelliher's team at the hands of Everett was the surprising bolt of the week-end play.

Dorse still, Anderson, the Rindge centre, who has been selected as All-Scholastic centre for the past two years, will be out of the game for some time because of a broken collar bone received in the Everett melee.

Medford High is starting to pick up speed. But Edgerly, the best looking fullback to show his wares in these parts, will return to the eleven and Medford fans are banking on his playing to give the local club a victory and upset the predictions of the many that Rindge would be the next champions of the Suburban League.

Sometime is radically wrong at the Cambridge school. The talent for a good team is at hand. The ability of Coach Kelliher to teach football is above reproach. Yet the team is not what it should be. It has been intimated that cockiness on the part of the players has cropped up. They have a tendency to hold all teams in a cheap light, which is cause for the complete rout of what appears on paper to be a crack schoolboy outfit.

Coach Jim Mansfield had the same trouble last year, but he soon knocked it out of the heads of his boys and was elated over the fact that Brockton High scored a victory. It was the biggest thing that ever happened to the team and incidently made them champions.

Just who Coach Kelliher will put in at centre is a problem. Anderson's loss will be keenly felt, for his passing and his defensive play were big features of the Rindge team.

Because of this boy's loss, Medford is the favorite in this game. A number of wagers are being made in and about Medford that the home team will win. Odds of 10 to 6 with few takers are being quoted. The contest itself is a headline affair that will find Russell Field taxed to capacity on Saturday.

HAGEN-SARAZEN BEAT OUIMET AND SWEETSER

St. Albans, N. Y., Oct. 20.—Walter Hagen, professional golf champion, and Gene Sarazen, former holder of the title, won one up in a special thirty-six-hole match on the course of the St. Albans Club from Francis Ouimet and Jess Sweetser, amateurs and former national champions.

The play of Sarazen and Ouimet featured the match, which was won coming in on the morning round, when Sarazen and Hagen, after being two down at the end of the first nine holes, picked up five holes on the return journey and were three up at the lunch period.

Wildcats Collect

The South Boston Wildcats collected an abbreviated game from St. Peter and St. Paul's C. C. Saturday, when the latter's coach called his team off the field after protesting interference the Wildcats had just scored in the first period.

Pere Marquettes Win

The Pere Marquette team had a clinch leading Whitman Legion, 85 to 0. It was a good game until the final period, when the Caseys chalked up twenty-one of their points. The work of Captain O'Leary and of the Caseys should be a mark in the minds of the fans, and Dr. Barron's strong defensive play will undoubtedly land him on the team, especially by the Whitman backs.

Scholastic Chatter

When Peabody High scored a 7 to 0 victory over Lynn Classical they brushed aside the biggest obstacle in their path to the championship of the North Shore League.

Secret practice will be in vogue at Tannerytown for the remainder of the season. It was recently discovered that the signals used by Coach Brawley's team had been given the Beverly football team.

Two Peabody players, members of the third team, have been dismissed from the squad for the remainder of the season and have been refused admission to the games played on the Peabody Field.

For a light team Amesbury High is about the best in the State. They played a remarkable defensive game against Salem on the week-end.

There is little doubt but that Brockton High will have something to say about the Massachusetts High School title this Fall. Beating Medford and Haverhill, two of the best teams in those parts, speaks well for the ability of the Brockton eleven.

Pat Creedon, the sterling halfback on the Brockton club, played a brilliant game against Haverhill in 1923 and went one better in the 1924 game. It's seldom that a lad with all his ability is uncovered.

The doubleheader at Braves Field on Tuesday is the leading attraction in Boston High School circles. Brighton High meets Mechanics Arts, and Dorchester will test out the strength of Trade school.

It has been reported that Coach Bill Prendergast of Dorchester High has the best looking squad on wear the Dorchester spangles in years. Captain Barry on the line and Connannon at end are too shining stars.

What Ed Herb lacks in ability in carrying the ball he sure makes up for as a defensive player. He is undoubtedly the best defensive backout so show at Medford in years.

THIS WEEK'S GAMES

Today—Boston Latin vs. B. C. High at Braves Field, Rivers at Stoneham and Newton Townsend—Brigham vs. Mechanics Arts and Dorchester vs. Trade at Braves Field. Wellesley—Charlestown vs. Somerville, Boston and Lynn Boston vs. High Park at Wellesley Field.

'UP TO WALTER,' SAYS CLARK GRIFFITH

Washington, Oct. 20.—It seems to be up to Walter Johnson to decide finally whether he will continue to shine in the firmament of the World Champion Nationals.

Clark Griffith, president of the club, says that if the veteran hurler should be offered an opportunity to better himself, "it would be mighty hard for me to stand in his way," although "I would certainly feel that I was being a hero," in surrendering any claim on his services.

Although the finish of his pitching arm has not been dimmed by eighteen years of major league baseball, Johnson hankers after an interest in some western minor league club so he can settle down for the sake of his family. Griffith, of course, has been trying to dissuade him from leaving the team he helped to bring to glory, but he admits he has not been able "to talk Walter out of his mind of leaving."

Explaining that before Johnson could leave the major leagues every club in both circuits would have to waive rights on him, Griffith expressed the opinion that if Washington gave the pitcher his release the others would do likewise, "as a reward for his long and faithful service."

Naturally, I hope that Johnson decides to stay with us a little longer," he said, "we've gotten somewhere now, and asking me to let loose a pitcher who won twenty-three games for us last year is asking something!"

BROWN starts in preparation for the game with Yale Saturday filled with confidence that it will score a victory over Tad Jones' eleven. Notwithstanding its defeat at Chicago, all Brown apparently figures that the Bear will trim Yale, Harvard and Dartmouth.

Tad Jones

The showing Saturday against Boston University with a team virtually composed of first-string substitutes surprised not only the Brown followers but even gave the coaches somewhat of a kick, in the cause of the ease in which Brown took care of the Terriers.

None of the Brown men were injured in the Boston University game and those who were laid up last week, as a result of the clash with Chicago, will be ready for Yale.

Walker Is Seeking Light Heavyweight Championship Title

By SID MERCER.

Mickey Walker is in earnest.

This time he declares himself a candidate for the world's light heavyweight championship, which he proposes to take from another Irishman, Mike McTigue.

Mickey is the present champion. He thinks he can bridge the middleweight division—though he is angling for a go at Harry Greb—and knock McTigue loose from a title that is a milestone around Michael's neck.

Paddy Mullins, who manages McTigue's detours around New York, told us about it.

McTigue claims he can do the middleweight limit—160 pounds—for Greb. Mike once made Harry a proposition to box at the middleweight limit for both titles. Walker says that if McTigue will do 160 pounds for him they can go twelve rounds in Newark.

Of course no official decisions are handed out in New Jersey, and to put himself in line for another title Walker would have to knock Michael insensible.

This bout probably would not be sanctioned in New York even if Walker and McTigue were in good standing here or willing to fight to a decision. The New York Boxing Commission under certain conditions will approve a clash between champions in adjoining classes, but would hardly permit one title holder to drop down one class and another to go up one class to meet him.

Several knotty questions would be involved in such a match even if staged in no-decision territory.

Should McTigue be knocked out he could claim his title was not at stake because of the stipulation that he come in fifteen pounds under the class limit and, therefore, the title could change hands on a foul.

If the match is made, the agreement undoubtedly will protect McTigue by a specification that neither will lift the title out of competition because of weight conditions. Out-side of New Jersey, however, Walker might be accepted as light-heavyweight champion.

Anyhow, it's a new angle on a game always handicapped by too many rules. A challenger coming in over a class limit cannot take a title by a knockout. A champion may voluntarily reduce to the weight limit in a lower division in taking a chance.

Walker, who fights most of his battles as a light middleweight, will tune up on Jack Malone on October 29 at Newark. Malone no longer can make 147 pounds. He recently was stopped by Johnny Wilson, former middleweight champion.

BAILEY SAYS HE WILL CONQUER LABRIOLA

George Farmer Bailey, Brattleboro strong man, is much put out with the talk that he is all through as a wrestler. He admits that he did go stale last year towards the end of the season.

Bailey asks, "how about my first twenty matches last year? Eighteen of them I won and the other two were draws with Toots Mondt and Joe Stecher. No doubt I went stale but a series of matches such as that would make any one go stale."

"I am now in top form again and when I hook up with Leone Labriola, the Lion of Italy, on Thursday night at the Grand Opera House, just say for me that I will be the same Bailey who won 18 straight matches last year. I expect to win even more this season. Thursday night will be win No. 1 for me."

Labriola has secured the services of Jack Albright as a training partner and will be a greatly improved wrestler when he hooks up with the Vermont strong man. Unlike a lot of big men, Labriola doesn't depend on his strength alone. He has a lot of speed and is developing a fighting style of attack that puzzles his opponents from the time the bell rings till the bout is over.

In the semi-final, Count Zarzynof will meet Charlie Donell, the Norwood policeman, in a one fall contest.

Michigan Backfield Players to Adopt New Stance

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 20.—Michigan has adopted a new method of lining up its backfield men. The backs are coached according to the Bevan idea.

The plan is to eliminate the old crouch and take a position similar to that of an infielder, which permits the player to move in any direction without loss of time. Standing thus, according to Bevan, the player can receive the ball with less trouble and are in a better position to take a pass to either side, or overhead. The way Dutch Sterkel and Vic Domhoff handled the ball on the freshman team last year showed Coach Yost of Michigan the advantage of the stance.

SHIBE MAY BUY SHARE IN PORTLAND BALL CLUB

Portland, Ore., Oct. 20.—It is reported that Tom L. Turner, scout for the Portland baseball team of the Pacific Coast League, and John T. Shibe, part owner of the Philadelphia Athletics, have obtained an option for the purchase of the Portland Baseball Club. The deal, it is said, will be closed early next week.

The reported price for the club franchise and the Portland holdings, which include the baseball park, is $300,000.

Tigers Gain Strength as Notre Dame Game Nears

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 20.—Brad Dinsmore and Ted Drews were the only two Tigers that suffered more than the usual body bruises in the game with the Navy. However, both of them reported in uniform today, ready for the week's hard practice for the coming Notre Dame contest.

The Tiger varsity will be strengthened this week by the return to the lineup of Captain Buzz Stout and Ed McMillan, the husky centre.

Even though Princeton came through in the pinches in great style, the coaches recognized the fact that Princeton is hardly ready to meet the hard-running eleven that Rockne will put on the field Saturday.

It was evident that the Orange and Black was exceptionally weak on plays between guard and tackle. The Navy backs penetrated well into the secondary line on almost every play. Gates, at right tackle, played his game hard but the Navy found little difficulty in opening a wide hole through his side of the line whenever Quarterback Allen Shapley called for such a play.

Tom Gibbons Loses Boxing Shoes on Toss of Coin

London, Oct. 20.—When Tom Gibbons returned to the United States after his victory over Bloomfield he was minus his boxing shoes, which he took a prized possession of J. S. Gardner.

The American boxer, in gathering up his belongings, packed only one of the shoes, the other being picked up later by Gardner. Gibbons discovered his loss and announced that he would be willing to toss a coin with the finder of the odd shoe to determine who should have both.

ALL-STAR CARD OF BOUTS IN ARENA RING

By JACK CONWAY.

JACK DELANEY, fighting Frenchman, and Pat McCarthy of Roxbury will furnish the heavy cannonading in the feature ten-round bout at an all-star show under the direction of the Suffolk A. A. at the Arena tonight.

Delaney proved his ability to sock when he knocked out Paul Berlenbach and Frank Moody, two of our most ambitious flatic warriors.

As for McCarthy, he punched hard enough to conquer Battling McCreary, Hambone Kelly, Bob Roper and other young men of heft.

The tussle tonight will be at catch weights. This means that Delaney will scale between 168 and 176 pounds, while McCarthy will carry 172 to 174 pounds of fighting flesh and bone into the ring.

THREE more ten-round bouts and a four-round skirmish will complete the card. Here's the preliminary:

Bob Lowery, Scotch welterweight champion, vs. Scoops White, Worcester.

Eddie Devine vs. Andy Martin, both from the South End.

Al Mello, Lowell, vs. Billy Brewster, Lynn.

Walter Wolf, a welterweight and a protege of Jack Sharkey's, will mingle with Buff Ives of Cambridge in the four-rounder.

LOWERY and White are expected to furnish a flock of action. When this pair clash Lowery was disqualified in the first round for failing to stop fighting when ordered to do so by Jim Donahue at Worcester last week and figures he carries too many guns for Lowery.

• • •

DEVINE and Martin are South End rivals. Both kids are willing workers and should give the fans plenty of thrills.

Mello won the national amateur title in the 154-pound class and was the runner-up at the Olympics. He will be making his pro debut when he mingles with Brewster.

Sharkey says Wolf will prove a sensation. Wolf is one of the New England welterweights. We'll be able to tell you more about this young man after we have seen him in action.

Five Eight-Round Bouts on Card for Lynn Fans

The Casino A. C. of Lynn offers one of the best fighting cards of the season for tonight's show with five eight-round bouts on the bill.

Billy Brady, Woburn Iron man, and Carl Rocha, who claims the welterweight title of the Panama Canal Zone, are paired in the first bout.

Charley Costello of East Boston and Babe Adams of Lawrence will meet in the next number. Both are fast little fellows and should put up a good scrap. Jimmy Harmon of Boston will forsake the amateurs where he has been boxing like a champion and meet Leo Barry of Peabody.

Dick Russell of Lynn, who always put up a great battle at the Casino when he met Al Bergeron of Revere Bedford, a tough, willing worker.

In the final eight-rounder, Tony Mandell of Worcester, latest sensation in the lightweight class who is yet to lose a decision, although he has taken part in thirty-two contests against some of the best boys of his weight in New England, will meet Charley Baxter of Pawtucket.

C. A. C. Show Put Back a Week

The Commercial A. C. boxing show, originally booked for tomorrow night, has been put over until Tuesday night of next week. Johnny Sheppard of Woburn will oppose Chick Scraggs of Newport in the feature bout of the evening. Sheppard takes the place of Danny Kramer, who was originally carded for that bout, but which Scraggs. The originally prelim card will be staged.

Bike Records Fall

Paris, Oct. 20.—More records went by the board at the new monthly autodrome meet here, as French bicyclist, paced by heavy motorcycles, went 100 kilometres (62.14 miles) in 53 minutes, 24 seconds, and 112.44 kilometres (approximately 70 miles), in one hour.

Vandersteuyft, the Belgian rider paced by the regulation motorcycles, lowered his own world's record by traveling 81.9 kilometres (approximately 51 miles), in one hour. Another record made was that of Marchant, who covered 10 kilometres (6.21 miles) in 4 minutes, 15 2-5 seconds, using a 500 cubic centimeter cylinder machine.

Titled Racer Killed

Milan, Italy, Oct. 20.—Count Zborowsky was killed when the car he was driving in an automobile race overturned. His mechanic was injured.

HARVARD WILL MAKE GOING ROUGH FOR GREEN THIS YEAR

CRIMSON COMES TO LIFE

By NICK FLATLEY

BOSTON can prepare this week for one of the great football games of the season—the Harvard-Dartmouth explosion at the Stadium Saturday. That little event has all the earmarks of a gridiron classic as they say. The Indians of the North, fast and powerful, will have to get even with somebody for not being able to beat Yale for failing to make one yard in four downs to accomplish an object. They have disappointed at New Haven. We want their scalps at Cambridge. The boys from Hanover would rather beat Harvard than anybody else in the wide wide world. They did that last season, and on the dope, should repeat.

HARVARD, though, isn't going to be easy to beat. And that's no matter what the opposition. Football has come to a point where the average team is playing the game so much alike it was an even money bet until grade of watch there would be a team in the first half that would fool the powerful Harvard eleven. The Crimson has improved tremendously since the season opened. On the contrary, Dartmouth a few years back was a big favorite over Harvard, but for one reason or another lost the game. The Indians have come back this year with a team that is rated as good as the Crimson's. Both elevens will be primed for the battle of the season. The Dartmouth-Harvard game is a natural attraction. The only two matches all the season will be Saturday afternoon.

THE Holy Cross mix-up, in addition to the overwhelming defeat handed the Purple by Jack Hammond's men, has a few more points to ponder. For a couple of years Jack has been regarded a wonder who fairly "comes through." He has been an idol and never ever so good as he showed the Purple had to fight for a living Saturday. He was in the way of the ball time after time and chased against the Purple. He was in on many defensive plays. Even in that game was he perfect. He was a wing carry on the fatal punt that gave Worcester a touchdown. He who starred in the closing minutes of the game, the first period, was the same Jack Hammond who was seen out of the game in the second quarter. He was in the backfield every time he was in the game. Then there was the question of Captain Mahoney playing Cross and more than that couldn't be said.

HAMMOND'S punting was the best that has been seen on the Fordham gridiron since Stan Pilecki was booting the ball around there. Every kick he unloosed traveled high and far. His punts had his backs within the enemy's territory good. Lehigh's big mashie shots. It gave Hammond all the time in the world to get down the field. And not one punt was taken away easily and as a result Hammond's punts would send him to the team if he didn't have another thing else.

HARVARD'S backfield this Fall looks like one of the best combinations ever gathered by Coach Richardson. Mellor, who won the Cross country game after having completed had put the invaders out in front, is a remarkable ball carrier. He has a remarkable ball carrying style. Nothing fancy about it, but one gets under way like a streak. He has high knee action, though, is running now, and he's one to watch to split. He was repeatedly tackled by Holy Cross players in the boys from Worcester could not be released to help. Mahoney is the best all-around player on the team. He is a powerful defense

ONE of the merriest battles in history is on for the league championship. As things stand at the present time, Wake Robin is in the same class. Wake Robin is the first all and still has it but his margin is not much wider than a humming bird's eyebrow. Check tossed in with the three backs is formidable besides making the team one of the heaviest and fastest backfields extant. Delph is a powerful line crasher, and that's what's wanted. But Joe McGlone and Spalding aren't going to let him perch carelessly on the job. The two latter have great driving power. have showed that already McGlone supposed to be a triple-threat and loves to do it. Spalding is in the same class.

(Replies to Challenges Will Be Taken Care of If Addressed to Boston American Sporting Department.)

INTER-HILL spirit in the West End has been dead for a number of years. Not that the West Ender hasn't been active in athletics, but in sports that has been missing. A revival of the old days has commenced with the organization of a Bowling League, which has shown it possesses the fighting spirit of former members of the West End. Leagues of Columbus, Y. M. C. A. Army, Roxbury A. C., Literary Institute, the old Knights of Columbus and many other of the West End clubs of bygone days have helped to make things buzz throughout the years.

The latest addition to the newly-organized Bowling League, which will start its season at the Park A. A. alleys, Tremont street, Wednesday night, is the Park A. A. Allen A. Bowling Team. HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Fruit stains can be removed quickly if powdered starch is put on the stain immediately. The starch will absorb the coloring matter of the fruit. After this treatment wash the linen as usual.

Medium-sized fish are better than very large ones. The gills and eyes should be bright. When buying flat fish look at both sides. In place the spots should be a vivid red. Cut fish should have flesh of a firm appearance and a close grain.

* * *

Iron-mould stains on linen can be removed by using a warm solution of oxalic acid, or salts of lemon, rubbed on with a piece of flannel.

* * *

To clean suede gloves, if colored, put them on the hands and rub well with fuller's earth, which is best applied with a small nailbrush. White suede gloves should be cleaned in the same manner with dry pipeclay.

* * *

The best treatment for a wasp sting is to touch the spot several times with either strong liquid ammonia or a solution of common washing soda.

ARE YOU A TORTOISE?

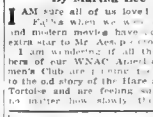
By Martha Lee

I AM sure all of us love Aesop's Fables when we were children, and modern movies have added an extra star to Mr. Aesop's crown.

I am wondering if all the members of our WNAC American Women's Club are running true to form to the end story of the Hare and the Tortoise and are feeling sure that no matter how slowly they travel in getting with such organizations who would be glad to help out.

The second prize, a beautiful mahogany ebonized clock of the fine make from A. Stowell & Co., 24 Winter street, and third prize a Westinghouse Toaster, are equally well worth working for. But don't try out because you are afraid you can't send in names enough to qualify for one of these useful prizes.

There are 25 more prizes, ten valued at $8.00 ten valued at $5.00, and five valued at $3.00 of Colgate's finest face powders, perfumes, rouges and toilet waters, and the waters are coming now it will only take a few names to win one of these gift boxes.



1ST PRIZE—Glenwood range with nickeled trimmings and drawers. Has new oven area heat control. A beauty. Was $——. Within a fraction of efficient a price.

START TODAY.

Make up your mind that you will surprise yourself with a prize this month and start your ball of new members rolling today. You will be surprised to find how easy it is. Every one seems to have heard of the club. Everybody is talking about it. Everyone is interested and will be doing your friends who don't know about the club a real favor in telling them how interesting and helpful it is.

Those of you who went with me the club the Atlantic & Pacific Food dling they will come under the wire as Smith ran in the final dash.

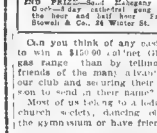
Can you believe that so far in this October [illegible] my membership has been sent in to every two and more?

When I first thought of having this membership drive we numbered 2,775 members and I thought how wonderful it would be if we could hit the 10,000 mark. That would only mean an average of three new members from every member that we already had and surely that isn't expecting very much especially when each one of us is so interested in the welfare and progress of our club.

ONLY TOO GLAD.

I felt sure that many of you would be only too glad to help in this membership drive without any prizes at all and with 28 really lovely and valuable articles to be divided among the winners, I felt sure that our number of members would increase by leaps and bounds.



2ND PRIZE—Solid Mahogany Gothic Clock—8 day cathedral gong strikes the hour and half hour. From A. Stowell & Co., 24 Winter St., Boston.

Can you think of any easier way to win a $150.00 cabinet Glenwood gas range than by telling your friends of the many advantages of our club and securing their permission to send in their name?

Most of us belong to a lodge, club, church society, dancing class or the gymnasium or have friends con-

Each knew what a good time we had and this is only the first of the many other good times we are going to have this Fall and Winter. Membership entitles you not only to the use of our beautiful club room, but to free tickets to lectures, food demonstrations, radio teas, sight seeing and theatre parties etc., and to Martha Lee's personal assistance on any household subject.

Remember there is only one condition to this contest and that is to give your full name and your membership number in the WNAC American Women's Club if you are not already a member and want to enter this prize contest and to share in the pleasures and benefits of our club, fill out the coupon today which is published on this page for your convenience.

You do not have to have a coupon for each new member's name in this contest. Just print or write the names very plainly and send them to Martha Lee, care of Boston American, Hearst Building, Winthrop square, Boston. Membership cards will immediately be forwarded to your friends and the number which you send in will be credited against your name.

Let's all pull together to go over the top with 10,000 members or more!

FADS OF FASHION

POMPADOUR'S Popularity—seems to have revived, for the gowns of the 1926 Fall openings are named after this favorite of the old French court. "Pompadour" lace is one of the most exquisite irridescent trimmings for evening gowns. They are painted in any one of the many gay colorings, silver lace being used as the background for these motifs and flouncings, which come in many widths.

Beyond Question—is the esthetic use of the suede-finish cloth coats that have seal collars in the exact shade of a question mark. Even the suede fur button completes the resemblance. Deep seal cuffs and a border add to the smartness of this garment that is fitted to the waist and then flares generously, being quite full at the hem.

Cinderella's Envy—might have been aroused had her fairy godmother presented another girl with a pearl slipper straps that are the latest Parisian novelty. These straps are made of braided and wov- pearls and are finished, at both sides, with tiny rhinestone buckles, and, worn on gold and silver slippers of satin slippers of black, white or light evening shades, they draw admiring glances to the shapely instep they adorn.

Fifty-Fifty are surely the fairest sporting odds, so that is the basis of the new half-and-half sport fabrics whose surfaces show half of one color and half of another. These fabrics have a brushed rubbed finish giving an extremely soft, woolly, warm appearance, suggesting suitability for clothing those who indulge in Winter sports.

Stoles Steal Back—into smart fur fashions, and can be relied upon to be as greatly in evidence as either muffs or chokers. Wound around the throat, the stole has a distinctly stunning air if its ends are gracefully swung over the wearer's shoulder. Only flat furs such as leopard, seal, fitch, ermine or mink are suitable for stoles, and many effective combinations of two types of pelts will be worn.

Winsome Widows, if they are young and charming, should have no difficulty choosing their bonnets this Winter for never before have mourning chapeaux been so flattering. Made of black crepe de chine, these hats are generally faced in white crepe—many having a white crepe neck strap. Narrow, dull black ribbon is either worked into a floral design or used in a braided effect.

Match-Making takes on a new significance when applied to the face of the ensemble costume, which now often includes a small draped turban of the same material as the coat and dress. The affinity between hat and suit is even carried to a further degree by the former's adoption of a touch of the fur used in trimming the latter.

Well-Seasoned and Seasonable are the black satin or bengaline, fur trimmed, tunic frocks that show a smart and enlivening dash of red. Some models have the long tunic slashed at either end to betray the red foundation, while other styles merely show the vermillion shade in the belt and as a touch of trimming on sleeves and pockets. Giving the required "pep," this splash of color really seasons the entire frock, and the black fox fur which borders the tunic adds a Wintry air.

WHY SHAKE BABY?

By Wm. A. McKeever

Noted Lecturer and Authority on Vocational and Sociological Subjects

FOR two hours, while riding in a railway coach, I watched with interest a mother and a grandmother as they took turns shaking a ten-months-old baby. The practice is common and is very bad for the child, and here these two were doing the job with unusual energy.

They shook the infant horizontally, perpendicularly and in a rotary fashion. They tossed it many times high in the air and made its tiny nerves tingle with many "whoos" and loud meaningless exclamations of a teasing and bantering character.

Give your baby a chance to use his own initiative in obtaining exercise. Loosen the clothing at least once a day and let him kick and wriggle with all his little might, with a "coo" of his own to accompany the stroke. Then let him quiet down and perhaps have some nourishment and sleep.

Handle him only when necessary to care for his person. Let the kind friends gather around the crib and admire and love him there at a distance, but without contact. Chucking under the chin, poking in the ribs, provoking to loud laughter and making a volley ball of your baby are some of the things not to do, if you are concerned about his future health.

If you shake your child to keep him amused, he will soon learn to expect coddling. If you shake him to put him to sleep, he will soon be unable to go to sleep in the natural way. If you take him up very frequently in order to shake him while you bestow your affections upon his helpless little being, you will soon make that practice a habit indulgence for him.

Peevish, fretful, unstable—what do you say to the suggestion that you are inducing these shortcomings through your "shaker" system of handling your infant? Let his baby instincts and impulses lead in the matter of physical exercise, while you follow his cue. Let him kick, roll, creep, climb and tumble about in his natural way, while you safeguard and look on.

PARIS SENDS NEW IDEAS

PARIS—Much brown, through a gamut of all the tones, figures in the Winter collections, and especially is velvet used as a medium to introduce these shades. DRECOLL, on the Champs-Elysees, made the golden-brown velvet frock sketched on the left. The foundation of the garment is in one continuous line without belt or girdle; there is, however, an apron, circular in cut, running sharply up in an almost vertical line to the throat at the front, while at the sides the attachment is along a line curving below the hips and ending just back of them. The back of the frock is straight and flat throughout its length. Dull gold lace of rather solid texture borders the apron and an extremely narrow strip of velvet tying about the throat is weighted at the tips with heavy gold tassels. The sleeves are long and fit closely to the arm and wrist.

On the right is shown a full-length coat of black panne velvet from CHARLOTTE'S collection. It is cut in a very narrow straight line, which gives a slender silhouette and a decidedly youthful effect. The gradually flaring sleeves are bordered at the edge with cuffs of chinchilla, and there is a close-fitting, upright collar of this fur. Around the lower edge of the coat the fur is treated in an unusual way by tapering the width of the band bordering the hem until it gradually ends in a tiny tip, and spiralling this ever-narrowing strip in a large swirl at the front. The coat is lined with crepe de chine in a soft shade of gray, which blends nicely with the tones of the fur, and is bordered with silver lame ribbon in two widths.

WHO SAID IT AND WHERE

"Extremes in nature equal good produce;
Extremes in man concur to general use."

Pope, in his "Moral Essays," sees a great good in the diversity of men's minds and disposition.

"The cautious seldom err."

Confucius remarks in inculcating prudence.

"In arguing, too, the parson owned his skill,
For, e'en though vanquished, he could argue still."

There are many people like Goldsmith's parson in "The Deserted Village."

"In beauty faults conspicuous grow;
The smallest speck is seen in snow."

The person who is gifted with beauty or talent is more open to criticism than others, Gay notes in his "Fables."

"Thy modesty's a candle to thy merit."

Modesty enhances merit. Ben Jonson writes in "Tom Thumb the Great."

BEAUTIFY IT WITH "DIAMOND DYES"

Perfect home dyeing and tinting is guaranteed with Diamond Dyes. Just dip in cold water to tint soft delicate shades or boil to dye rich, permanent colors. NORA LEE

A Story of Flaming Youth

Heart and Soul of 1924 Flapper Laid Bare in Best Story by Author of "Chickie"

HOW THE STORY STARTS

Margaret Meadows married Will Lee at seventeen. His dissolute habits soon made her miserable. The night he raised his hand to his two-year old child in a drunken rage she slipped from his home with her baby. Margaret supported her daughter by teaching school in several villages, finally settling in Fairdale, where she met Andrew and they fell in love. But he was tied to an invalid wife and Margaret refused to let him leave her. Then she taught school until her health gave out. Andrew gave them a home of their own. Nora at 17 began to go to dances with her school friends.

NOW CONTINUE THE STORY

By ELENORE MEHERIN

ONE other thing made it easy for Nora Lee to look with kind, tolerant eyes on all who love. Romance delicate and light whirred with pearly wings about her. Her mind was filled with dreams, with vague sweet longings.

These focused always on a face—a young, merry face with deep set twinkling eyes and such a manly chin. Nora Lee thought Dane Herrick the handsomest, noblest, finest thing in all the world.

She had met him twice at Conlee. He was a freshman at college. When she went walking with Margaret she thought of him. She would say to herself: "As though he would look at me with all the stunning girls on the campus. I suppose he thinks I'm too young. Oh, if I weren't such a homely person—"

She searched the mirror for some trace of beauty. Margaret caught her. She said: "I have a sore eye."

Margaret burst out laughing. She said, teasing: "You're coming around, my dear, you'll be lovely—never fear!"

The dance was on a Saturday. Andrew came and brought her a string of the tiniest seed pearls. They just set off the dress.

Both of them looked at her. She said humbly: "If I were only pretty—"

Andrew Whistled

Andrew whistled: "He... think you are! I'll lay a dollar on that."

Her heart flushed. She was stepping into the world of youth and gaiety. She was leaving Margaret and the old ways—the old standards—

But this she did not know.

She had wondered and wondered about the strange ways of life and why the beauty was so hidden. Then she loved—the flame transfigured all. Oh, she thought that if Dane Herrick took her hand she would follow him all over the world—she would wipe out everyone—

And this tremendous emotion was built of no slight thing. It was a smile a few gleeful words—the pressure of her hand. . . .

Connie whispered to Lee as they ushered at their noses: "Dane's coming. He thinks you're all to the good. Gosh, I'm glad your dress has the class. What do you think of mine?"

Connie was in crimson taffeta, very short and quite low in the neck. Her black eyes were startling under their painted lashes and the pink-brown hair. She said with a twitch of her lips: "What say, woman some passionate outfit? I feel very Carmenello if Mickey Grant happens to ask."

Nora Lee's ears thundered. He thought she was a lot to look good! She wished Connie would say more—

But the other girls came giggling and fluttering up the stairs. They were all pretty—a bright tide of youth and color—pink cheeks—sparkling eyes—

Connie's mother led them into the room. She was blonde and blue-eyed, dressed in lavender. Nora Lee found it hard to believe she was the mother. Not that she was as young as Margaret but so utterly different. She wore her hair half-shingled—a mass of tiny curls.

Connie said: "How are tricks, Bill? The musicians come? Listen her—you can flirt with Tom, Dick and Harry, also Dane—but keep your James off Mickey Grant—get me—"

"Yes, dear. Am I dangerous?"

"I'll say you are! Run along now and be a good sport—but a double kick in the punch. Your first born, darling only graduates once."

Connie's Mother.

As soon as she was out of earshot Connie said warmly: "Bill's an old dear. She has the right hop on this parent stuff. But talk about a flirt—I can't help herself. I tell you, if you want a dangerous rival—get a 40 year old flapper in the wings. Say, I wouldn't trust St. Anthony to their mercy. Honest Injun!" Connie laughed and added wickedly: "That comes of knowing the ropes!"

Billie went obediently down to the breakfast room where the great punch bowl was set and dashed in a quart of gin, then she went over to an alcove to watch with her friend Jane Harris. Jane was 35, married, divorced and childless. But she had thought out several things in the course of her years.

She winked amiably: "You did that pretty slick, Billie."

"I hope they'll be satisfied."

Jane grunted: "Remember the time we went to old Teohau's and ordered a Scotch high with our sandwiches?"

"Do I? And I was kept home for a month because my mother smelt the liquor on my breath. I was made to feel like an outcast—a fallen sister. I don't want to be an ogre to my children—"

Jane gave a low whistle. The musicians whirred into the strains of a weird Hawaiian one step: "Ah, to be 20 today! We came too soon, Billie—"

But Billie's wide blue eyes narrowed. She got up hastily and went with pretty, dainty steps down the hall. Connie and Mickey Grant were sampling the punch and not finding it to their liking. Mickey was about to draw a flask from his pocket when Billie touched his arm:

"Now, Mickey, dear, just run along, mamma fixed that. It's just right—"

"You're a piker, Bill," Connie pouted. "Why look here, Nora Lee can't even taste it and she's a brand new deb—try it!"

She offered the cup and Nora Lee drank it slowly, the icy velvety

"I'm frightened to death!" said Nora stepping forward, my dear."

"Indeed not! Someone else might get there first."

So that was it, was it, Andrew Dane Herrick had a long, glittering line of cash. Nora Lee made a valiant attempt to rise above and up the thrills.

But she could not. Her head and heart and body were in a whirl. She had loved the stars and the trees that she was sure—that was the flippant fever of the dance. She had a wish now to get out—to walk—look at the stars—the golden stars—and wonder—and couldn't even guess at all that was going on around her.

With her own brilliant coloring match her tongue with any of them. She could see the ridiculous things

In a flashing impulse she cried out: "Oh, I don't know what in the world you're talking about, Dane Herrick! This is the first time I've ever been to. I'm frightened to death. I can't think of a thing to say. You're just wonderful to me, me."

When he gave her a startled, grinning look, her little hand reached out and grabbed his sleeve. "Don't go away—please. I'd just die if I had to sit here alone. You know boys make me shy with stage fright. I've never talked to any of them except the big, blushing fellows up in the Blue Valley. Oh, that's a lonely, desolate place. I never had a soul to talk to except my mother. So my tongue is awfully out of practice—"

A Real, Real Girl

She laughed softly and glanced eagerly up at a child might into his face. Dane Herrick blushed. He said: "Gee—what a funny kid!"

Nora Lee thought herself a homely person. Just now the tender gold of her skin flushed and glowed the black curly hair fell over her forehead, her eyes in the night were misty violet. They sent a long, quivering thrill through the young lad's nerves. Gee—what a sweet kid—regular gypsy—different as they come. He was fed up on dolls and snakes—knew their smug line by heart. Here was a real, honest-to-god Miranda! And he'd discovered her!

He stopped a limd over hers. "Thats a wish, Nora Lee — I wish—"

"You did like me that first time, boy—"

She ever so much.

He laughed shoulders, laughing. Dane Herrick was only nineteen—but he was already fed up with the ways of his fraternity brothers. He was ready for architecture and dreamed of building masterpieces—one cathedral at least. He stayed hard at it, of course, only taking Saturday nights off for—

Nora Lee was fabulously interested in this. He would have denied that and given large quotations from Omar to prove his cynicism, as college youths will.

But he was flushed now in his heart as Nora Lee. He gave her a few confidences and they were pouring out their lonely hearts to each other. No one had ever understood them before—

Couples were now sauntering in a dreamy manner from the dining room to the automobiles outside. Some had disappeared after the third dance. Dane said: "I don't want to go. I like it here. I don't know why you go to me. I just love you're gorgeous—"

Nora Lee felt perverse. "It's quite nice as is. don't you think?"

"Sure enough."

So they danced and danced—her mind and thoughts were soaring and singing. All about her seemed a shining as of silver. She never wanted to look up at him as she often did to Andrew. Oh, Dane, I don't know why you go to me. I just love you're gorgeous—"

BOBBIE AND HIS PA

By W. F. Kirk

PA, I sed to my dad last nite, Pa, was Mister Noah a Republikan or a Demmycrat? I sed.

I guess he was a Prohibshunist, Bobbie, sed Pa. There wasent much of anything aroundt X-cep water in Mister Noah's day, sed Pa.

Was there a Republikan & a Demmycrat on the Ark with him, I sed. The Bibel sed he took one of every kind of beests on the Ark with him I sed.

Pa laffed. In Mister Noah's day, Bobbie, sed Pa, there was no politikal partys. If there had been, sed Pa, they wud of stole the Ark from him & he wud of drownded sed Pa.

Well, I sed, if there wasent any politicks in his day, why does there haf to be politicks now? I sed.

Times is different, Bobbie sed Pa. In them old days peepul lived a very simpel life. They was happy tilling the soil, Bobbie, sed Pa. They used to till the soil & now they spoil the till, Bobbie sed Pa.

Perhaps it is jest as well, sed Ma, I am not interested in almanack jokes sed Ma.

How old was Mister Noah wen he went on the Ark? I sed.

Old? Him what I am, Bobbie, sed Pa. Much older. It shows that men is reely reddy for rthare greatest work wen there hair gits white.

You dount say so, sed Ma.

Yes indeed, sed Pa, snow white, & he was a tired, weery old gent, redy & willing to say godbye to this wurld. He rote a litel pome for the weakly paper jest beefore he died, sed Pa, it went like this.

My hairs is Noah. My hair is white. My ship sailed thru the flood all rite, But wen I hear my deer wife's hunk Ime with the Ark had sunk.

Then Ma didn't say nothing, she jest sniffed.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Dr. F. X. Mahoney

Boston Health Commissioner

Dr. Mahoney.

YOUR child, whether boy or girl, instinctively looks upon you, her father or mother, as friend, guide and mentor.

Everything you do is perfect.

Everything you say is truth.

You are the chief repository of wisdom, as you are the giver of all things good.

This is the mental attitude of your child and continues until you do something to disturb it.

But in the net final results of mere body building it is of vastly less importance than character building. Your importance as a character builder is, therefore of first consideration.

One of your first great opportunities comes in the child's natural curiosity. It is this curiosity that converts children into animated interrogation points. It is these honest and earnest quests of knowledge that must be met and in them you will find frequent opportunity to instill truthful understandings of the fundamental laws of health.

Never ridicule a child's questions.

Never answer a child flippantly.

Never make your child the victim of your own ignorance.

If you do not know the answer say so frankly. Then hunt up the information. This will teach the child frankness, truthfulness and the trick of research.

A child's question spells opportunity for the parent.

FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

A Wall Street man sprang this quip last week: "To buy stocks now is just to bet on the result of the election."

But how can business men keep from "betting" on the result of the election?

The business man who would wait to see on the election or on anything else a G who is rigidly following the policy of "waiting until after the election" is in a sense betting, is he not? He is taking a chance that the election will not be immediately followed by a stampede of buyers and a violent advance in prices.

Some business men do not care to run this risk. Therefore, they have been buying quite freely. Their reasoning is that less risk is entailed in buying ahead than in not buying.

The element of betting, as a matter of fact, enters into almost every business enterprise. The manufacturer who buys raw material takes a chance of being able to turn it into finished goods and to sell the product at a profit. If he first books definite orders at a specified price, and then goes out to find raw materials, he likewise incurs a certain amount of risk. Even the merchant conduct both operations at the same moment he is still confronted with the element of risk, the risk of being able to keep labor costs and other costs at the estimated level.

If refraining from buying at this time would eliminate all risk, then executives would unhesitatingly refuse to buy ahead. Under conditions as they exist, however, which is the wiser course to follow, to buy or not to buy?

* * *

All indications are that most individuals and concerns are "waiting until after the election." This means that, if the election result is satisfactory to business, there will be more or less rushing to cover. How will they then fare?

The law of supply and demand naturally will operate. A sudden, widespread demand upon a lightly stocked market invariably means unrushing prices.

The outcome of the election becomes, therefore, a matter of very material interest to business men whatever the surface may show. At such a time interest does exist.

Many investments have reached that in the highest financial quarters of circles the prevailing expectation is that Coolidge-Dawes will pull through. And, if the latter result could be uncovered, it is believed would be found that in the highest circles plans have been made accordingly.

Nevertheless, the outcome is not regarded in those circles as a foregone conclusion. It would seem so if the lengthening of the quoted betting odds on Coolidge from 3-to-1 to 4-to-1 does not notably reduce the small sentiment among high finance and big business. Odds of 2-to-1 would be a more correct picture.

Woolen Prices Up

American Woolen announces additional advances in prices, effective as to cloth on 171 men's wear fabrics.

BUSY BUILDING IS FORESEEN AT HARVARD

"Building operations continued to hold up (in September) and it now seems clear that the construction industry will be busy during the Fall and early Winter," says Harvard Economic Service.

The review also says: "Most developments in the business situation during September were favorable despite the check to improvement recorded by our business curve. Failures were fewer; production expanded in important industries, and trade reports generally were favorable. The sales of mail-order houses and chain stores exceeded those of September, 1923, and the unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation showed further moderate increase at the end of the month.

"While conditions over the country are uneven, the volume of business currently transacted compares favorably with a year ago. During the first nine months of this year it has been pretty well maintained except in the highly specialized industrial sections. The only regional index which, last month, fell below September, 1923, was that for the Richmond district, and here the difference was very slight tone point.

"With one exception the indexes for last month were above the low test figures of the first half of this year, and, in the case of important agricultural sections, the advance of recent months has been very sharp. For the first time since 1921, conditions in the great Northwestern and Pacific areas of the West and South are distinctly favorable elements in the business outlook."

COOL WEATHER TO BENEFIT TRADE

By FRANK H. MELOON, Financial Editor.

Improvement in the general business situation has marked the past week.

The improvement is expected to become more marked if we are favored with seasonably cool weather to stimulate further the retail trade.

Employment figures are reported better.

Volume of business is very generally expected to continue satisfactory during the next few weeks, with the annual holiday boom to help it along.

Rising wool prices have come as a result of the practical depletion of local stocks, now nearly all in the hands of manufacturers. Prices of both wool and woolen goods have strengthened.

Wool prices today are about 25 per cent above what they were around three months ago.

Cotton mills continue to display operations that justify recent optimistic expressions.

Fluctuations in the raw cotton market, due in part to latest Government crop estimates, are holding back some of the cotton manufacturers from the pace they would otherwise be setting at this time.

Copper metal has stiffened slightly. Good probabilities for the trade are believed to be ahead through the past has been crowded with disappointments.

Sales of autos and auto accessories have been below what might be called reasonable expectations for the season.

Thomas Nelson Perkins, who sailed Saturday to take his place as a voting member of the Reparations Commission under the London protocol, is a partner in what is perhaps Boston's most distinguished law firm, Ropes, Gray, Boyden & Perkins. Another partner has already rendered important service in reparations matters—Roland W. Boyden, who for so long occupied the difficult and rather thankless post of unofficial observer, says the Boston News Bureau.

During the war Mr. Perkins represented the War Industries Board at the Interallied Conference in Paris in 1917. He was later assistant to Bernard M. Baruch, head of the division over procurement and production of supplies, and in September, 1918, became assistant director of munitions.

As a Harvard undergraduate, he was captain of the famous '91 crew, the only one to defeat Oxford and Cambridge between 1885 and 1899. For 19 years Mr. Perkins has been one of the "President and Fellows" of Harvard, the small self-perpetuating body of seven which controls the destinies of the University subject only to the approval of certain officers of the Alumni and elective Board of Overseers.

NEW TOPS SET IN NEW YORK

Professional selling in New York stocks halted temporarily when the renewal rate for call money was lowered to 2 per cent.

Prices began to mount anew, best gains being recorded by specialties, particularly those in which pools are believed to be operating.

Industrials fully fulled to make much headway, although oils continued in good demand around their recent high prices. Both of the Consolidated Solvents issues sold at new high prices for the year, the A stock moving up more than 3 points to 73.

Frisco Common, Gulf Mobile & Northern preferred, Local Traction, Stromberg Carburetor and G. R. Kinney were among the dozen or so issues to climb 1 to 2 points above last week's closing.

Active selling of Famous Players, which broke more than 2 points, checked bullish enthusiasm somewhat. Bethlehem and Crucible Steel and Lehigh Valley lost a point or so.

In Boston Stock Exchange trading, the afternoon saw selective selling ordered by traders. Gains and losses very nearly evenly divided.

On passing of 75-cent common dividend, due November 1, Amoskeag dropped from 69 to 61 before rallying.

WESTINGHOUSE ORDERS IN QUARTER $34,705,000

Westinghouse Electric booked $34,705,000 new orders in the quarter ended September 30, decrease of 13 per cent. from the previous quarter's total of $40,000,000 and comparing with $41,940,000 in the corresponding period last year.

Sales billed for quarter totaled $39,782,000, against $38,260,000 in the June 30 quarter and $38,619,300 in the same quarter of 1923. For the first half of the current year, ending April 1, Westinghouse booked $74,735,000 new business, against $89,589,000 in the same period last year.

Six months' billings were $77,833,000, against $73,714,300 in same period last year.

QUOTATIONS LOWERED FOR GRAIN FUTURES

Chicago grain futures quotations were lowered. Prices: Wheat—Dec. 149¾ to 149⅜; May, 152⅝ to 152⅜; July 134. Corn—Dec. 104⅜ to 103⅞; May 119⅞ to 119⅝; July 111. Oats—Dec. 55⅛; May 57⅞ to 57⅝.

Gasoline Tax

Movement to increase California gasoline tax from 2 cents to 4 cents a gallon is being backed by boards of supervision of five northern counties in the State.

San Carlo Songbirds

TO SING HERE.

Yvonne Trave, at top, lyric soprano, and Gladys Axman, Hub girl, who will make their debuts here soon. Miss Axman will appear in "Tosca" November 14.

HUB GIRL TO APPEAR HERE IN OPERA

The success of the San Carlo Grand Opera Company during the past four weeks at the Al Jolson Theatre, New York, has surpassed the large patronage of Mr. Gallo's organization has enjoyed during past seasons.

The San Carlo Company will open its "two weeks" engagement at the Boston Opera House on November 3. The opera will be "La Gioconda," with Marie Rappold and Manuel Salazar in the leading roles.

An outstanding feature of the performance will be the appearance of the Pavley-Oukrainsky Ballet Russe in the "Dance of the Hours," one of the best known ballets in operatic repertoire.

The list of singers announced for this engagement are many names familiar to San Carlo audiences, as well as several newcomers.

There are several local American girls who have gained their experience on the operatic stage in Europe and at home, among them Gladys Axman, a Boston soprano; Yvonne Trave, a lyric soprano; and Clara Shear, another Boston girl, who will sing the role of Musetta in "La Boheme" Friday evening, November 7.

Miss Axman will sing the role of Floria in "Tosca" Friday evening, November 14.

Clara Jacobo is another local singer, her home being in Lawrence. She comes to the San Carlo Opera Company from successes at La Scala, Milan.

be desired. Or it might have been chivalrous reluctance to hang a lady.

"CRITICISM is easy, wit is difficult."

MacDonald, Labor Prime Minister of the British Empire, discovers in his turn the truth of the old saying. It is easy to put a new "Utopia" with happiness and plenty for everybody on paper, or in a speech. But doing the thing when power comes is different.

LLOYD GEORGE attacks MacDonald, saying the Labor party promised to find jobs for everybody, and gone out of office with unemployment greater than when Labor entered office.

Lloyd George attacks MacDonald and Labor, also, for lending money to Bolshevik Russia. But Lloyd George, only the other day promising the British that he "would hang the Kaiser," now favors lending hundreds of millions to Germany. England wants to do business with Russia. Why attack MacDonald for trying to make it possible?

THE BRITISH elections will answer, an old question: "Do working men ever stick together long?" In this country politicians answer "No." England very likely will answer otherwise.

GREAT BRITAIN takes women as suffragettes more seriously than it is taken here, where we allow them to vote, but apparently don't think much of them in public office.

Forty-one women are candidates for Parliament in this election. They include nobles-women," with assorted titles, one lady formerly a domestic servant, and one stenographer. Whatever you think about the British you must admit that they possess a genuine brand of democracy.

CHICKIE APRON SUPPLY GROWS LESS DAILY

Today began another week's rush for Chickie Tea Aprons, growing in popularity with each added one of the thousands of wearers.

Boston and New England have developed a contagious case of Chickie Aproniti, which bites every woman who casts her eyes on the pretty rubber garment.

It is not too late for you to get your apron, but it soon will be. Therefore, it beehoves every woman who desires the clever little frock, yet serviceable apron, to come early and avoid the rush.

They are in red, with white ruffled rubber border, and in an attractive red, with red border. Two coupons and forty-nine cents (four cents extra by mail) will get you an apron at the Boston American office or at any of the following depots:

Look on the Windshield for Certificate

Every used car advertised on this page has undergone a rigid inspection. The Boston American employs expert mechanics to make these tests.

Only an "INSPECTED" car can receive the blue certificate of inspection. It is your protection and safeguard.

If you do not see the blue Certificate on the windshield of the car you want to buy, ask the dealer to have an inspection made, by telephoning the Boston American, Liberty 4000. No charge nor obligation.

Cars which pass our inspection are, of course, the good cars. Thus, the list below contains the pick of the USED CAR market in Boston. All types of cars, at all prices, and all inspected.

The Boston American will help you select a Used Car Bargain at just the price you can afford to pay.

Do Your Own Thinking

Don't Let Anyone Tell YOU That Putting an End to Child Labor in This Country Means the "Nationalization" of Our Children

We commend to every reader who desires to vote intelligently on the proposed Child Labor Amendment the letter printed elsewhere on this page from the pen of Albert Bushnell Hart.

Since 1910, Dr. Hart has been Professor of Government at Harvard University.

Among the books he has written are "The Formation of the Union," "An Introduction to the Study of Federal Government," "A Guide to the Study of American History," a "School History of the United States" and a "Handbook of the War."

If anyone in Massachusetts should know whether the Child Labor Amendment is "the most dangerous assault upon our institutions ever proposed," as one of its very earnest opponents says it is, Professor Hart, we submit, is the man.

If enacting ONE child labor law for the entire country, and enforcing it by Federal authority, means the "nationalization of our youth, the keystone to the Red program," Professor Hart should know it and he is brave enough to tell us so.

What DOES he say:

"All this talk about its being contrary to the rights of man and the privileges of parents to restrict the hours, the conditions and the age of child labor," Albert Bushnell Hart says, "is NOTHING BUT WEAK BOSH."

You learned something about propaganda and propagandists during the war. Be on the alert for them, now. Don't let anybody tell YOU that by opening the mill gates to let little children out you will be letting anarchists, nihilists, communists and bomb-throwers IN.

And when they cry "Bolshevik," hereafter, in connection with this amendment, remember what Professor Hart says. "Bosh!"

The Annoying Whale

Well May Bryan Hate Him

Professor G. Elliot Smith, who knows about queer things in Egypt, finds traces of many diseases in Egyptian mummies, hardening of the arteries, etc., dating back 4,000 years.

In addition to the diseases we have now, they had plagues of their own—you have read about some of them in the Bible—that no longer bothers us.

Disease in nearly every case is some smaller creature living on a bigger creature. And the biggest of all living creatures, the whale, has perhaps more diseases than any other, including most of the diseases that afflict men.

To the enemy of evolution the whale is the most annoying of all creatures. When you look at the skeleton in the British Museum you see two little hip bones back near the tail. Those little bones are all that is left of the legs with which the whale used to jump around on land, millions of years ago, before he took to the water, and when he was a small animal, a "tree shrew," about the size of a very small kitten. Do you wonder that the evolutionist makes William J. Bryan indignant.

The Row Lasts

Unfortunate, Unnecessary

The religious row that started in the Democratic convention evidently is to last until after election day. Archbishop Curley at a dinner of the Italian Club in Baltimore, celebrating Columbus Day, complains that "religious discrimination in government departments is organized and rampant." The Catholics, he says, are discriminated against because of their religious faith.

Archbishop Curley makes no charge against any party or individual official. But in New York, the crucial State, the Democrats of Catholic faith, including Dudley Field Malone, whom Woodrow Wilson made Collector of Port, and Judge Daniel F. Cohalan, formerly the most powerful man in Tammany Hall, have both attacked John W. Davis on the ground that if elected he would be controlled by "bigots" from the South, meaning those opposed to the Catholic church. It is unfortunate that such an issue should ever have been raised in national politics.

Columbus' Birth Place

The Great Italian Race

The Anglo-Spanish Society of London says it can prove that Christopher Columbus was born at Pontevedra in Spain, NOT born in Italy. Perhaps he was, but it doesn't much matter.

The most interesting thing about Columbus' birth is the fact that he was partly of JEWISH blood, and that a large part of the money for his trip was provided by a Jewish uncle on his mother's side. It wasn't all supplied by Queen Isabella.

It is appropriate that a man of Semitic blood should have been the first to sail across the Atlantic Ocean. For the Phoenicians, a Semitic sea-faring tribe, living at the eastern end of the Mediterranean, were the first that ever navigated ships out of sight of land having no compass, the first to sail out through the Straits of Gibraltar, and tap the wealth of the British Islands—probably tapping a good many of the barbarous natives on the head in the process.

Italians will fight the effort to take Columbus from their list of great men. But in the case of Italy, even as great a man as Columbus could be spared from the record. A race that includes so many of the greatest names in the world's history, from Archimedes to Marconi, including Michael Angelo, Raphael, Leonardo, Galileo, and a thousand others, can spare one.

You would hardly miss one big star if it fell out of the sky. Only a trained astronomer would know it had disappeared. So it is with the brilliant history of the Italian race. Even the greatest name could be spared and still leave the greatest list of great men, with the possible exception of the names of ancient Greece.

MRS. SOLOMON SAYS

By HELEN ROWLAND

CONSIDER, my daughter, the Seven Deadly Stunts, where with a man seeketh to find favor in the eyes of woman.

Go to! Hath not woman been called "temptress" and siren and lurer of man, since the beginning of time?

Yet, the Helen reareth and the cock croweth, and the peacock struteth, and the savage painteth his face, and decketh himself in feathers, and danceth his war-dance, for the admiration of his mate.

Helen Rowland

And civilized man driveth his motor-car beneath the window of his beloved, and bloweth the horn gustily, to call her attention.

He performeth feats upon the football field, he bragg eth of his polo, of his horse, of the fish he hath caught, the game he hath killed, and the golf he hath played.

He showeth his medals, and his loving cups, and is puffed up with self-glory at her "ohs" and "ahs."

He squandereth his winnings in the street, and his takings in poker like unto the wind, when she looketh on; he flingeth his shekels to waiters and bus-boys. He delighteth to be called "high-flier!"

He bringeth her the trophies of his prowess and the spoils of success; he dazzleth her with jewels and flowers and ribbands and automobiles.

He telleth her all ABOUT HIMSELF; he showeth off his Greater knowledge and revealeth the depths of his Mighty Mind, to her delight.

He delighteth to TEACH her things; and, if there is something whereof she knoweth naught, he rejoiceth to EXPLAIN it to her.

And woman, winketh with the other eye, and clappeth her hands, crying, "Hear, hear!" and "Oh, how wonderful!"

For she knoweth her use, and to ADMIRE him is her only excitement.

To feed him and glorify him is her only hope of conquest.

To persuade him that he hath fascinated and astonished her is her only witchery.

For, the SHOW-OFF of the male is Man, and he will brook no rival.

Yet, how dear to the heart of a woman is the Perfect Lover, who doeth NO stunts, and demandeth no limelight, but simply adoreth and starreth HER!

Verily, he shineth amongst the show-offs, and the cut-glass, and incandescent in a cloudy night, and unto him, winning a woman is as easy as the turning of a hand.

Yea, he is SO refreshing.

SELAH.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

MANY men are so wise in Earth's dim, hidden ways they are leaders of all of the rest, for they plumb every depth and they thread every maze and they pass every difficult test. So we owe them a debt for the good they have done, for the wonders their brains have evolved, for the fight they have fough: and the race they have run and the puzzles and problems they've solved. They deserve all the honors, the plaudits and fame and the laurels they wear like a crown, and a glory undying will shine on each name and will glow through the centuries down. Just sometimes, vague regrets stir my soul for a space and I long for the things I'd rather be happy than wise;

In triumphs they know, men of wisdom who work for the weal of the race, for the good of mankind, high and low. Then again, I give thanks for my life's simple way when I gaze in the depths of your eyes, for who knows but what wisdom might steal love away and I'd rather be loving than wise! There is hope in my heart, but no reason therefor, faith in things that no science can prove and perhaps a great learning might be but a bar to the pinions of faith and of love. So it is I am glad from the depths of my heart when I gaze in your beautiful eyes, for the deep tides of learning might tear us apart and I'd rather be happy than wise.

Patient Needs Help

Helping Hand Editor:

Will some of your many readers remember in their charity J. N., of Roxbury, now in the Mattapan Sanitarium at No. 49 River street? All he asks is a little bit of sunshine, books, magazines and delicacies. He would certainly appreciate it. His mother is a poor widow, and J was at one time her only support. May your readers remember him. The mother needs help also.

R. E. C.

For Small Children

Helping Hand Editor:

You were kind enough to help me last Summer, for which I was very grateful, and so I am going to try and help someone else a little bit. I have some odds and ends which could be made over for small children. It is hard to see so many in want, and your column is wonderful to aid so many.

MRS. G. H.

Many thanks. Your list was too lengthy to publish, but we know Mrs. R. H., mother of several small children and handy with the needle, will be glad to get all you have to offer.

Has Many Needs

Helping Hand Editor:

We need a little help, as my husband has been in a T. B. sanatorium for nearly a year. I find it very hard to get anything but food from the State and am just able to keep a roof over our heads. I need sheets and pillow cases badly. I am ashamed to have anyone see the bed when I am sick with asthma. I have five children, boys ten (size 3 shoes) and two girls, girls seven, five and one year old. I can make over any clothes. I take size 38. Will certainly be thankful for any help. My baby is so big, I would like a baby carriage for her.

MRS. C.

Doll Carriage Offered

Helping Hand Editor:

I have a large wicker doll carriage, and if you would have someone in my vicinity (Quincy) call for it I would be pleased to let them have it for some little girl. I am moving soon and would like to get it out of the way as soon as possible.

L. H.

Thank you for this kind offer, and it will make some little girl in your vicinity very happy. The name of the little girl in the first letter we receive will be sent you.

Nurses Uniforms Wanted

Helping Hand Editor:

My husband deserted our little boy of four years and myself nearly three years ago, and I now have a chance to train to be a nurse, but cannot afford the necessary uniforms or books. Is there any kind reader who has some nurse's uniforms or books she is not using that she would give or sell reasonably to me? I take a large 38 or 40 dress and shoes 4 or 4 E. I have no Winter coat or street dress. I would also appreciate anything for my little boy. He needs underwear and shoes, size 7 or 8. At present I am keeping house for our board and $3 a week, but that does not pay my expenses, while if I go to a hospital and train I get a chance to support myself better and get a good education.

MRS. E. D.

Bed and Mattress

Helping Hand Editor:

I have a white enamel bed, three-quarter size spring and mattress (mattress only a year old), which I will be glad to give to anyone who will call for it.

Auburndale. MRS. P. B.

Thank you. Here is a chance for some needy reader in your vicinity to get a nice bed, and we will communicate with you as soon as we hear from the party.

Other Offers

The Editor wishes to express her appreciation to the following people for their generous offers of assistance to those in need:

Mrs. E. L. R., Portsmouth, N. H., violin case for J. C.; Mrs. J. P., Framingham, help for Mrs. R. J. G.; B. H. S., Medford, stove for Mrs. E. M. K.; Mrs. J. W., Jr., Chestnut Hill, help for "Poor and Downhearted Mother;" Mrs. W. H. M., Mansfield, help for Mrs. P. B. and Mrs. A. B. C.; Mrs. W. C. B., Belmont, shoes for "Downhearted Mother;" Mrs. C. P. S., Belmont, help for Mrs. F. H. G.; E. J., Jamaica Plain, food for "Mother of Four."

ON EXPRESSING ONE'S PERSONALITY

By DR. FRANK CRANE

SAID a society woman the other day: "I was handicapped at the start by having neither wealth nor beauty, so I endeavored to express my personality in my surroundings and in my dress.

"I adopted a certain color and kept to it, making it my own, as you will doubtless have noticed. My hats, my gowns, and every detail of my toilette to the smallest accessories, was carried out in a restful, peace-giving shade of pastel gray. I have identified my whole personality with it. The pastel shades of my drawing-room give the air of almost cloistered peace. Now I am known as the lady of repose."

This lady confessed to Lady Diana Manners, who adds that while most women are content to go with the crowd and follow where others lead, it is best to be individual.

Be in the fashion, yes, she says, if you are not you will be old-fashioned and dowdy, but fashion must be adapted to suit yourself.

She adds that she is a firm believer in individuality in clothes and that in many cases she makes her own gowns. She thinks that every woman should try to design at least one dress for herself.

"Since I was a child I have made nearly all my own dresses, from the designing, cutting-out and fittinz, to the actual stitching. I even made my own wedding gown and I do not think many women can boast of having done this. I did this because I wanted my personality to rise above mere fashion."

One's personality does not depend upon beauty of face nor shapeliness of form; it depends upon one's self.

Recently an actress in London advertised herself as the plainest woman in the world and the worst singer. She achieved a success, however, because she was entirely herself, had a distinct personality and expressed it.

It will be found that the women who have most influence in the world have not been those gifted with beauty of face and form but those who have been enabled to express themselves in dress and otherwise.

To be sure there is such a thing as carrying individuality too far, and of expression to the point of exaggeration, but there is also such a thing as carrying conformity too far. Just what is the golden mien, every woman must find out for herself.

Who Wants Child Labor?

Question Is Answered by One of America's Foremost Educators

By Albert Bushell Hart.

IN the controversy over the proposal for general protection of boys and girls against exploitation by employers, the real issues are only three:

1.—Are the conditions of child and adolescent labor in the United States satisfactory?

2.—Can an efficient remedy be found outside of national legislation?

3.—Is the proposed amendment reasonable and likely to do the necessary job?

1.—That the present conditions of child labor tend to be inhuman and degrading is instantly proved by the action of the States that have passed local laws for protecting the children.

All this talk about its being contrary to the rights of man and the privileges of parents to restrict the privileges of parents to restrict the hours, the conditions and the age of child labor, is nothing but weak bosh. Else why has Massachusetts a system of laws intended to prevent the employment of children for wages unless their inborn right to a school education is observed? Massachusetts does not even recognize the right of parents to put them to labor beyond their strength.

2.—The only remedy at present is by State legislation, and that has broken down—first—because the supposedly most intelligent States, such as Massachusetts, do not carry out their own laws.

Thousands of children in this State are working now at ages or under health conditions prohibited by law because the parents, and often the children, want the job and some State inspectors work in with greedy employers.

Of course, conditions are far worse in States like those of the South which have no restriction on child labor whatever.

Skaggs, in his recent book on Southern conditions—a Southern man who has spent life in the South—tells us what is happening there; how many parents lure children under ten years work on twelve-hour or night shifts. And the forced labor of those poor little helpless creatures gives an advantage to the mills in which they are employed as against New England mills where such extremes are not allowed.

So keenly was the state of things felt that Congress passed two statutes, almost without opposition in either House, to prevent the circulation of goods made by such labor.

Action by the individual States is no remedy because it is hard to get efficient laws in the best States; and because the best States are penalized for the protection of their children by the unabashed exploitation of children in the worst States.

3.—The proposed Constitutional Amendment is no more an assault upon the personal liberty of the American people than the numerous States acts on the same subject.

Like all grants of power to the Federal government, it is stated in general terms.

It is the only possible method by which there can be an equal and fair regulation for all the children who need the protection.

It confers upon the United States the same kind of power, and no more of it, than it now exercises over the persons employed in interstate transportation.

It is the same kind of power that every State has over all laborers, child or adult, within their boundaries.

That is why it is backed up by the labor organizations, by humanitarian societies, by several of the ablest justices of the Supreme Court in dissenting opinions.

The main force now working against the 20th Amendment is the conscious or unconscious (but in either case selfish) interests of employers; who, without such a national law, have more freedom to decide for themselves and their stockholders what shall be the terms of labor of the children and adolescents of the whole community.

ONCE-OVERS

DO NOT MAKE PUBLIC KNOWLEDGE OF YOUR PRIVATE AFFAIRS

There are times when you want to become confidential with some one.

You have private matters you would like to discuss, not so much for advice, but just to tell someone about them.

After you have had time to think over what you have said in relating some of your private affairs you regret that you made them known.

Perhaps you have done things in your life which are nothing short of disgraceful.

To some person with whom you become confidential you told of these escapades which you know would be damaging to your present standing if known.

You are worried and you have a right to be worried.

If you cannot keep your own secret how can you expect another to keep it for you?

Do not place in any person's hands an instrument with which to destroy you—which he can use to hew down the good reputation you have acquired through years of right living since the time when you were indiscreet or when you made certain mistakes in your life.

It may be hard to keep your own counsel but it is safe.
